Smart Home How To Promo:

Changing Media, Homes and Households Deborah Chambers, 2016-04-14 Media technologies have played a central role in shaping ideas about home life over the last two centuries. Changing Media Homes and Households explores the complex relationship between home, householders, families and media technologies by charting the evolution of the media rich home from the early twentieth century to the present. Moving beyond a narrow focus on media texts, production and audiences, Deborah Chambers investigates the physical presence of media objects in the home and their symbolic importance for home life. The book identifies the role of home based media in altering relationships between home, leisure, work and the outside world in the context of entertainment, communication and work. It assesses whether domestic media are transforming or reinforcing traditional identities and relations of gender, generation, class and migrancy. Mediatisation theory is employed to assess the domestication of media and media saturation of home life in the context of wider global changes. The author also develops the concept of media imaginaries to explain the role of public discourses in shaping changing meanings, values and uses of domestic media. Framed within these approaches, four chapters also provide in-depth case studies of the processes involved in media's home adoption: early television, design, family centred video gaming, the domestication of tablet computers and the shift from smart homes to today's connected homes. This is an ideal text for students and researchers interested in media and cultural studies, communication and sociology.

Health Promotion in Long-Term Care Facilities Kallol Kumar Bhattacharyya, 2025-06-11 This book discusses biopsychosocial barriers and facilitators of long term care services, focusing on health promotional activities targeted to maximize quality of life. This knowledge of meaningful activities helps to identify and improve strategies for supporting people living in long term care facilities with various chronic disorders at a deeper level. Although no all-encompassing theory of caregiving has yet been developed, this book explores various theoretical formulations as central aspects of promoting health in long term care practices. The current culture change in long term care controls the well-being of the concerned person physically, psychologically, socially and economically. In later life, these issues profoundly impact individuals' morbidity and lifespan. Further, it has been evidenced that the Centers for Medicare instead of clinical quality measures only, it is influenced by residents their family members staff and administration Person centered care not only requires a culture change in how residents and caregivers work together but it also requires facilities to ensure staff deliver care with the highest possible level of empathy and adopt meaningful care practices Among the topics covered in this contributed volume Are Quality of Care and Quality of Life Synonymous in Long Term Care Aging in Place or Long Term Care Changing the Narrative to Promote Aging in Place in Long Term Care Person Centered Care and Culture Change Movement in Long Term Care Extending the Age Friendly Movement to Long Term Care Potential of Health Promotional Practices in Long Term Care Health Promotion in Long Term Care Facilities is an essential resource for a diverse readership including academics and researchers in gerontology aging studies health management and policy health sciences nursing psychology social work and public health as well as caregivers and policymakers The book's academic value from a multidisciplinary perspective would be beneficial for students in the above mentioned fields
