School Science Practical Work in Africa Umesh Ramnarain, 2020-06-01 School Science Practical Work in Africa presents the scope of research and practice of science practical work in African schools. It brings together prominent science educators and researchers from Africa to share their experience and findings on pedagogical innovations and research informed practices on school science practical work. The book highlights trends and patterns in the enactment and role of practical work across African countries. Practical work is regarded as intrinsic to science teaching and learning and the form of practical work that is strongly advocated is inquiry based learning which signals a definite paradigm shift from the traditional teacher dominated to a learner centered approach. The book provides empirical research on approaches to practical work, contextual factors in the enactment of practical work and professional development in teaching practical work. This book will be of great interest to academics, researchers and post graduate students in the fields of science education and educational policy.

Validating Technological Innovation David Coniam, Peter Falvey, 2016-04-02 This book discusses Hong Kong's use of onscreen marking (OSM) in public examinations. Given that Hong Kong leads the way in OSM innovation, this book has arisen from a recognised need to provide a comprehensive, coherent account of the findings of various separate but linked validation studies of onscreen public examinations in Hong Kong. The authors discuss their experience of the validation process, demonstrating how high stakes innovation should be fully validated by a series of research studies in order to satisfy key stakeholders.

The Routledge Handbook of Disability in Southern Africa Tsitsi Chataika, 2018-07-27 This comprehensive ground breaking southern African centred collection spans the breadth of disability research and practice. Reputable and emerging scholars together with disability advocates adopt a critical and interdisciplinary stance to prove, challenge and shift commonly held social understanding of disability in traditional discourses, frontiers and practices in prominent areas such as international development, disability studies, education, culture, health, religion, gender, sports, tourism, ICT, theatre, media, housing and legislation. This handbook provides a body of interdisciplinary analyses suitable for the development of disability studies in southern Africa. Through drawing upon and introducing resources from several disciplines, theoretical perspectives and personal narratives from disability activists, it reflects on disability and sustainable development in southern Africa. It also addresses a clear need to bring together interdisciplinary perspectives and narratives on disability and sustainable development in ways that do not undermine disability politics advanced by disabled people across the world. The handbook further acknowledges and builds upon the huge body of literature that understands the social, cultural, educational, psychological, economic, historical and political facets of the exclusion of disabled people. The handbook covers the following broad themes: Disability inclusion, ICT and sustainable development, Access to education from early childhood development up to higher education, Disability employment, entrepreneurship and community based rehabilitation, Religion, gender and parenthood, Tourism, sports and accessibility.

Compelling narratives from disability activists on societal attitudes toward disability media advocacy accessible housing and social exclusion Thus this much awaited handbook provides students academics practitioners development partners policy makers and activists with an authoritative framework for critical thinking and debates that inform policy and practice in incomparable ways with the view to promoting inclusive and sustainable development

Contemporary Development Ethics from an African Perspective Beatrice Okyere-Manu, Stephen Nkansah Morgan, Ovett Nwosimiri, 2023-07-29 This book offers fresh academic insights reflections questions issues and approaches to development ethics taking into account African values and ethics Development ethics is an area of applied ethics that examines the moral issues involved in global social and economic transformation While it is a relatively new discipline there have been numerous scholarly publications on it from Western perspectives However only a few studies that focused on development ethics from the African perspective To address this gap the book seeks to answer critical questions such as What does development mean to Africans How can we measure development Who gets to decide and What constitutes just development in Africa With contributions from African scholars from diverse backgrounds the book covers various development themes such as Theories and approaches to development ethics in Africa Environmental Ethics and African Development Ethics Politics and African Development Migration and African development Gender Ethics and Socio economic Development in Africa Education Ethics and African development It is an essential resource for researchers lecturers and students interested in political philosophy and African culture studies

Drawing for Science Education Phyllis Katz, 2017-03-23 This book argues for the essential use of drawing as a tool for science teaching and learning The authors are working in schools universities and continual science learning CSL settings around the world They have written of their experiences using a variety of prompts to encourage people to take pen to paper and draw their thinking sometimes direct observation and in other instances their memories The result is a collection of research and essays that offer theory techniques outcomes and models for the reader Young children have provided evidence of the perceptions that they have accumulated from families and the media before they reach classrooms Secondary students describe their ideas of chemistry and physics Teacher educators use drawings to consider the progress of their undergraduates understanding of science teaching and even their moral ethical responses to teaching about climate change Museum visitors have drawn their understanding of the physics of how exhibit sounds are transmitted A physician explains how the history of drawing has been a critical tool to medical education and doctor patient communications Each chapter contains samples insights and where applicable analysis techniques The chapters in this book should be helpful to researchers and teachers alike across the teaching and learning continuum The sections are divided by the kinds of activities for which drawing has historically been used in science education An instance of observation Audubon Linnaeus A process how plants grow over time what happens when chemicals combine Conceptions of what science is and who does it Images of identity development in science teaching and learning

Conservation Criminology Meredith L.

Gore,2017-03-14 This important new text introduces conservation criminology as the interdisciplinary study of environmental exploitation and risks at the intersection of human and natural systems Taking an interdisciplinary approach the book enhances understanding of the various human and organizational behaviors that pose risks to the environment humans and drive conservation crime As human population growth global market economies climate change deforestation and illegal exploitation of natural resources continue to increase academic research from numerous disciplines is needed to address these challenges Conservation Criminology promotes thinking about how unsustainable natural resources exploitation is a cause and a consequence of social conflict Case studies profiled in the book demonstrate this cause and effect type situation as well as innovative approaches for reducing risks to people and the environment This text encourages readers to consider how humans behave in response to environmental risks and the various mechanisms that constitute effective and ineffective approaches to enforcement of wildlife crimes including environmental and conservation policy Case studies from the USA Latin America Africa and Asia highlight corruption in conservation global trade in electronic waste illegal fishing illegal logging human wildlife conflict technology and space water insecurity wildlife disease and wildlife poaching Taken together chapters expand the reader s perspective and employ tools to understand and address environmental crimes and risks and to provide novel empirical evidence for positive change With established contributors providing interdisciplinary and global perspectives this book establishes a foundation for the emerging field of conservation criminology Land Tenure

Challenges in Africa Horman Chitonge,Ross Harvey,2022-01-01 This book provides a significant contribution to the literature on land reform in various African contexts While the economic evidence is clear that secure property rights are a necessary condition for catalysing broad based economic development the governance process by which those rights are secured is less clear This book details the historical complexity of land rights and the importance of understanding this history in the process of trying to improve tenure security Through a combination of single country case studies comparative case studies and regional comparisons the book is unequivocal that good governance is paramount for improving the performance of land reform programmes All attempts at moving towards more formal secure tenure require congruence with informal norms beliefs and values and a set of clear systems and processes to avoid corruption and unintended negative consequences
