THE FIRST YEAR AT UNIVERSITY Teaching Students in Transition The first year at university can be a very challenging time for students especially in a mass system of higher education Many students are ill equipped to cope with life at university and retention is now a critical metric for all universities This has resulted in universities having to spend considerable time and attention on ensuring that the first year experience is as positive as possible for all students This book offers a range of practical strategies underpinned by relevant research which lecturers can implement when charged with working with first year students in order to ease their transition to higher education These strategies affect not only the design of courses teaching and assessment but also how teams of lecturers provide consistent support and how this in turn is supported by strategic planning at an institutional level The First Year at University is a practical resource that can be used by a wide range of lecturers including those undertaking the PGCE Higher Education as well as those on CPD courses on teaching and learning in higher education

A Good Job George S. McClellan, Kristina L. Creager, Marianna Savoca, 2023-07-03 For many students working while in college is a defining characteristic of the undergraduate experience However student workers often view campus employment as a money making opportunity rather than a chance for personal development Likewise institutions often neglect to consider campus jobs as a means to education and student engagement It is the distinction between work for remuneration and work for personal development which shapes much of the discussion of student employment throughout A Good Job This book makes the case for campus employment as a high impact practice in higher education and provides models for institutional efforts to implement new student employment strategies Carefully designed campus employment opportunities can have numerous benefits including career exploration and preparation learning and increased engagement leading to increased retention The authors make the case that employment can and should be a purposeful and powerful component in any higher education institution s efforts to support student learning development and success This book is an excellent resource for anyone interested in capitalizing on the developmental and learning potential of student employment on campus communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation
