Index, 2005 Trade Policy In Asia: Higher Education And Media Services Christopher Findlay, Hildegunn Kyvik

Nordas, Gloria O Pasadilla, 2014-04-25 Education and media services have much in common Both provide services that embody local cultures in which there is extensive public sector participation and significant domestic regulation. At the same time both are dramatically affected by the information and communications technology revolution. The production of information content now involves huge costs in terms of research and development or artistic talent whilst the cost of making such products available to other consumers is very low. This in turn challenges the effectiveness of domestic regulation and raises fundamental questions about its purpose calling for an increased scope for international trade and investment and the development of supply chains. Yet both areas are lightly committed in international trade agreements like the GATS. This lack of commitment and the lack of additional impact from negotiations in bilateral discriminatory trade agreements are cross cutting themes in the book. Trade Policy in Asia responds to these issues to provide readers with a comprehensive and consistent treatment of policy in the higher education and media services sector across a range of Asian economies little studied in the existing literature. The book opens the discussion with an overview of global trends in each area followed by detailed country specific studies. Through comparative work it identifies common elements across these sectors and highlights critical implications for trade policy. Education services themes include the growth and impediments involved in various forms of trade and investment the emergence of a new wave of globalization obstacles faced by domestic providers in supplying services a common ambition to become an education services hub for international students and the scope for greater international cooperation in research. Media services themes include the impact of new technology on options for content delivery and the associated problems for policy implementation and copyright protection and the new challenges of globalization for social goals relating to local cultures as well as risks involved in implementing policies that pursue these goals.

Trade Policy in Asia: Higher Education and Media Services OECD, Asian Development Bank Institute, 2014-06-05 This book provides readers with a comprehensive and consistent treatment of trade policy in the higher education and media services sector across a range of Asian economies.

The Transition Handbook Rob Hopkins, 2008-02-25 Move from feeling anxious about the oil crisis to developing a positive vision and taking traction action to create a more self reliant existence with this ground breaking book. We live in an oil dependent world and have become reliant in a very short space of time using vast reserves of oil in the process and without planning for when the supply is not so plentiful. Most of us avoid thinking about what happens when the oil runs out or becomes prohibitively expensive but the reality may not be as bad as we think. The Transition Handbook shows how the inevitable and profound changes ahead could have a positive effect. Written by permaculture expert Rob Hopkins he discusses the possibility of a rebirth of local communities which will generate their own fuel food and housing These will encourage the development of local currencies to keep money in the local area and unleash a local skilling up so that people have more control over their lives The growth in interest in the Transition model continues to be exponential There are now more than 35 formal Transition Initiatives in the UK including towns cities islands villages and peninsulas with more joining as the idea takes off With little proactivity at government level communities are taking matters into their own hands and acting locally If your community has not yet become a Transition Initiative this upbeat guide filled with beautiful black and white photographs offers you the tools to get started The Transition Handbook is the perfect manual to guide communities as they begin this energy descent journey
