Pdf Reality International Studies Princeton University:

Armed State Building Paul D. Miller, 2013-08-15 Since 1898 the United States and the United Nations have deployed military force more than three dozen times in attempts to rebuild failed states. Currently there are more state building campaigns in progress than at any time in the past century including Afghanistan, Bosnia, Kosovo, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Haiti, Sudan, Liberia, Cote d'Ivoire, and Lebanon, and the number of candidate nations for such campaigns in the future is substantial. Even with a broad definition of success, earlier campaigns failed more than half the time. In this book, Paul D. Miller brings his decade in the U.S. military intelligence community and policy worlds to bear on the question of what causes armed international state building campaigns by liberal powers to succeed or fail. The United States successfully rebuilt the West German and Japanese states after World War II but failed to build a functioning state in South Vietnam. After the Cold War, the United Nations oversaw relatively successful campaigns to restore order, hold elections, and organize post-conflict reconstruction in Mozambique, Namibia, Nicaragua, and elsewhere, but those successes were overshadowed by catastrophes in Angola, Liberia, and Somalia. The recent effort in Iraq and the ongoing one in Afghanistan, where Miller had firsthand military intelligence and policymaking experience, are yielding mixed results despite the high levels of resources dedicated and the long duration of the missions. There, Miller outlines different types of state failure, analyzes various levels of intervention that liberal states have tried in the state building process, and distinguishes among the various failures and successes those efforts have provoked.

Responsibility for Human Rights David Jason Karp, 2014-03-27 An original analysis of which global actors are responsible for human rights in today's world and why.

EU and US Foreign Economic Policy Responses to China Joachim Schild, Dirk Schmidt, 2023-12-19 This book examines EU and US bilateral trade and investment relations with China, their attempts to level the economic playing field, and to narrow the reciprocity gap in market openness. It explores the extent of EU and US policy change, the underlying factors accounting for this change, and compares EU and US foreign economic policy answers to an adversary increasingly perceived as an unfair economic competitor and as a systemic rival. The book covers a broad range of policy areas from trade wars, trade defense instruments, their reform, and use, investment screening, and export control to industrial policies. It makes eclectic use of different strands of International Relations, International Political Economy, and Policy Analysis, theorizing to account for the extent of and differences in the EU and US responses. The People's Republic of China's stellar economic and political rise, combined with the resilience of its unfair trade practices, its reinforced authoritarian repression at home, and its ever more assertive foreign economic policy, has triggered a shift in perceptions of China, followed by equally profound policy change in the European Union and the US. This book expertly charts and explains this significant shift in stance. This book will be of key interest to scholars, students, and practitioners in the fields of EU trade policymaking, US foreign foreign economic policy, EU-China US economic relations, European political economy, and more broadly to European studies, Asian studies, International Relations, International

Political Economy and transatlantic relations Scientific Realism and International Relations Jonathan Joseph, Colin Wight, 2010-07-30 Contemporary theory of international politics faces a twofold problem the critical engagement with legacies of national power politics in connection to 20th Century International Relations and the regeneration of notions of humanity This book contributes to this engagement by a genealogy of thoughts on war peace and ethics Provided by publisher

Rethinking Democracy Promotion in International Relations Jessica Schmidt, 2015-08-20 This book traces and conceptualises the changing notion of democracy and demonstrates how democracy promotion finds itself at the heart of contemporary international discourses and policies Democracy promotion is widely considered to constitute a hypocritical and failed grand international narrative of the 1990s and has allegedly been replaced by other more pressing and academically more captivating concerns such as conflict management statebuilding and climate change This book challenges this position and argues that the core notions of democracy promotion such as empowerment inclusion and responsiveness are a key concern of contemporary international policymakers Drawing on the work of Michel Foucault Hannah Arendt as well as John Dewey it investigates the notion of democracy and modality of its promotions through the policy fields of conflict management statebuilding and climate change The central development the book observes is the reconceptualisation of democracy from the constituted sphere of the public to the lived relations of the social The book argues that the novel rationality of democracy and its promotion offers a particular solution to governing impasses in a world perceived to be globalised and complex which accounts for democracy's current but neglected centrality This book will be of much interest to students of democracy intervention statebuilding global governance and IR in general

Linking the European Union Emissions Trading System Charlotte Unger, 2021-01-25 This book focuses on the linking of the European Union Emissions Trading System EU ETS with other independent regional ETS While rich practical and academic research has evolved on the economic and technical side of ETS linking political drivers and barriers have so far been underrepresented in this debate Filling this lacuna and based on international relations theory existing research and qualitative fieldwork this book introduces the range of political conditions that influence linking such as political leadership and stakeholder activity Specifically it analyzes which of these aspects have played a role in three different linking activities of the EU 1 a failed linking attempt EU ETS California Cap and Trade Program 2 a successful linking treaty EU ETS Switzerland Emissions Trading System and 3 an agreed upon but not realized link EU ETS Australia Carbon Pricing Mechanism Through an interrogation of these examples Dr Unger concludes that it is not only the technical challenges or the overall economic benefit but rather domestic interests structural aspects and external international political developments that have jointly dominated linking activities especially those in which the EU takes part This book will be of great interest to scholars and policy makers working in climate policy and EU environmental politics

The European Union and the International Forest Negotiations Gunilla Reischl,2009

The Politics of the New International Financial Architecture Susanne Soederberg,2004-11 Recent years have witnessed a veritable epidemic of financial crises from Mexico through South East Asia Russia Brazil and now Argentina The rich industrial countries led by the United States have had to respond This book examines the G7 s attempts over the past decade to re establish rules and a degree of order in the world financial system through the creation of the Financial Stability Forum and the G20 which they are calling the New International Financial Architecture Susanne Soederberg asks Why has the New International Financial Architecture emerged At whose initiative What does it involve What are the underlying power relations Who is benefiting Will it really work The author argues however that this tinkering with the capitalist system will not achieve either sustained economic growth or stability in financial markets let alone enhance the capability of developing countries to tackle the problems of mass poverty and social injustice

Islam and Statecraft Jon Hoffman,2025-01-23 Instead of religion influencing political outcomes this analysis examines how politics influences religious outcomes Dominant analyses examining the utilization of religion as a tool of statecraft in the Middle East remain overwhelmingly fixated on how Islam influences the foreign policies of different state actors not how political considerations often influence the forms Islam assumes and how religion itself is often molded according to strategic considerations of political elites That Islam due to its unique or exceptional relationship with politics drives political outcomes at the international level in the Middle East is a myth this book shatters by demonstrating how the political considerations of ruling elites specifically the intersection of domestic and foreign threats influence and constrain the kinds of religious soft power strategies adopted by states in the region This book develops a comprehensive analytical framework for the notion of religious soft power capable of incorporating power based identity based and ideational variables to examine how states couple religion with their broader foreign policy conduct This framework is applied to the Middle East through the specific examination of three countries Saudi Arabia Qatar and the United Arab Emirates in the period following the Arab Uprisings to demonstrate how specific religious narratives identities histories and ideologies are constructed by political elites in the Middle East for the advancement of what are inherently political objectives namely the imperatives of regime preservation and power projection

The Place of International Obligations in the Domestic Legal Order of States, 2008 Journal of Peace Research, 2008-11 State of the World's Cities 2008/2009

United Nations Human Settlements Programme, 2008 First Published in 2008 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Ploughshares Monitor, 2000 Civil War is Not a Stupid Thing Christopher Cramer, 2006 This book takes issue with two common perspectives on violence and war The first is the liberal interpretation according to which war is exclusively negative in its effects and peace is easily achieved through democratisation and free trade In this view modern liberal market democracies have outgrown violence and only resort to it in self defence The second is a romantic utopian view of violence Transposed into political rhetoric these two views are often directly opposed as they are nowadays in Iraq and in the War on Terror Cramer's book forges an alternative way of understanding the role of violence in the transition to capitalism and a global economy

Researching Possibilities in Mathematics, Science and Technology Education Mamokgethi Setati, 2009 Mathematics Science and Technology Education MSTe emerged as a research discipline in the 1960s and continues to reflect the distinctive flavour and character of its roots in Western societies and science In this mode often based on positivist frameworks research environments are characterised by idealised environments sanitised research conditions depoliticised neutralised data and contested analyses The book arises from needs in the mathematics and science education research community in Southern Africa for a methodology text that is responsive to rapidly changing educational environments and to the challenges and possibilities of research in contexts characterised by inequality diversity poverty violence the particular history within which research takes place and the consequent ethical and socio political considerations The book also acknowledges and works with the practical and political realities of education and schooling in much of Southern Africa where schools are often poorly resourced and communication with them is often difficult and where research methodologies and ethics have to take account of the complexities of school operations and school community relationships The book does not aim to position itself as a counterpoint to conventional research methodologies It aims to build on the established base of mainstream MSTE and seeks to elevate and widen the debates raise methodological issues and offer innovative possibilities and pedagogies To this end the chapters present theoretical meta level reflections on issues in research design in the fields of mathematics science and technology education In this shift of focus the book draws on a number of fairly recent research approaches These include ethno mathematics cultural studies in science education place based education community based education environmental education socially critical theory and education for social and economic development
