Transforming Unequal Gender Relations in India and Beyond Saroj Pachauri, Ravi K. Verma, 2023-09-08 This book offers a unique intersectional perspective on gender equality SDG5 It presents an intersection of gender with caste class region ethnic and sexual identities and other structural drivers of inequalities in various development sectors It presents case studies and empirical findings from development practice and policymaking and highlights the challenges to implementing SDG5 in practice It discusses policies to promote gender equality and prevent violence against women and girls and women in decision making and leadership positions The chapters reinstate that gender equality is possible only if unequal gender norms are transformed to recognize women and girls as independent economic entities and not merely homemakers providing unpaid care It also analyzes to deconstruct the idea of monolithic masculinity to recognize gender diversity and men's role in providing care The book shows how much has been achieved yet how far is also left to go It is an essential reference point for researchers policymakers students and scholars across gender studies women's studies and sociology Strategies For Academic Success Reneau Waggoner,2006-05-18 The Crucial Voice of the People, Past and Present Victoria M. Young,2012-10-01 Here is a fresh common sense take on education reform not by an educator or administrator or politico but by a concerned mother and citizen who dares to proclaim that America is NOT offering a quality education to ALL its children Young sees an effective public education system as a fundamental function of a strong republic Yet opposing political agendas are directing federal state and local lawmakers toward failed programs wasted dollars and poor results for American public education In The Crucial Voice of the People Past and Present Young presents important insights into what can be done to fix America's public education system Her research and observations are eye opening and provide all readers with a galvanizing focus on what needs to be done and how to get there But most importantly the book energizes parents with new ideas and tools to improve the schools in their own communities The Crucial Voice of the People Past and Present is a call to the public education system to openly listen and to communities to make themselves heard How Women Can Save The Planet Anne Karpf,2021-05-27 Here's a perverse truth from New Orleans to Bangladesh women especially poor women of colour are suffering most from a crisis they have done nothing to cause Yet where in environmental policy are the voices of elderly European women dying in heatwaves Of African girls dropping out of school due to drought Our highest profile climate activists are women and girls but at the top table it's men deciding the earth's future We're not all in it together but we could be Instead of expecting individual women to save the planet what we need are visionary global climate policies that are gender inclusive and promote gender equality Anne Karpf shines a light on the radical ideas compelling research and tireless campaigns led by and for women around the world that have inspired her to hope Her conversations with female activists show how we can fight back with strength in diversity And faced with the most urgent catastrophe of our times she offers a powerful vision a Green New Deal for Women Step Inside Design ,2003 Creating Regenerative Cities Herbert Girardet,2014-09-19 Large modern cities have effectively declared their independence from nature But while they take up only three percent of the world's land surface their ecological footprints actually cover the entire globe Humanity is building an urban future yet urban resource use is threatening the future of humanity and the natural world To meet the aspirations of city people in both developing and developed countries bold new initiatives are needed Modern cities are an astonishing human achievement As centres of innovation they are humanity's cultural playgrounds Their communication and transport systems have developed a global reach They are attractive to investors because they can offer a vast variety of services at comparatively low per capita costs But are they viable as ecological systems The planning of new cities as well as the retrofit of existing cities needs to undergo a profound paradigm shift Mere sustainable development is not enough To be compatible with natural systems cities need to move away from linear systems of resource use and learn to operate as closed loop circular systems To ensure their long term future they need to develop an environmentally enhancing restorative relationship between themselves and the natural systems on which they still depend Creating Regenerative Cities is a concise solution oriented manual for creating regenerative urbanisation A wide range of technical management and policy solutions already exist but implementation has been too slow and too little in large part because the kinds of holistic approaches needed are still unfamiliar to fragmented and process driven urban policy making and governance Herbert Girardet s 30 years experience as an ecologist thinker film maker and consultant working around the world has created this unique combination of tried and tested best practices and policies which outlines the fundamental shifts needed in the way we think about our cities
