Red Bird Sings Gina Capaldi, Q. L.

Pearce,2013-11-01 I remember the day I lost my spirit. So begins the story of Gertrude Simmons also known as Zitkala a which means Red Bird. Born in 1876 on the Yankton Sioux reservation in South Dakota Zitkala a willingly left her home at age eight to go to a boarding school in Indiana. But she soon found herself caught between two worlds white and Native American. At school she missed her mother and her traditional life but Zitkala a found joy in music classes. My wounded spirit soared like a bird as I practiced the piano and violin she wrote. Her talent grew and when she graduated she became a music teacher, composer and performer. Zitkala a found she could also sing to help her people by writing stories and giving speeches. As an adult she worked as an activist for Native American rights seeking to build a bridge between cultures. The coauthors tell Zitkala a s life by weaving together pieces from her own stories. The artist s acrylic illustrations and collages of photos and primary source documents round out the vivid portrait of Zitkala a a frightened child whose spirit would rise again stronger and wiser for the wounds it had suffered

Neonatal-Perinatal Infections: An Update, An Issue of Clinics in Perinatology Brian Smith,2015-03-30 In this issue the Guest Editors provide a contemporary look at the epidemiology clinical manifestations treatment and outcomes for neonatal perinatal infections. Contributors include neonatologists infectious disease and critical care specialists with a wide variety of research interests in this arena. Readers will be exposed to the latest information on dosing of antibiotics antivirals and antifungals. This information is critical in the infant population given the rapid changes in physiology metabolic pathways and renal elimination that occur over the first months of life. There is an extensive examination of infectious processes that commonly present in infants including meningitis bloodstream infections and urinary tract infections. Additional topics include infectious processes affecting the newborn chorioamnionitis and TORCH infections and premature infants necrotizing enterocolitis Specific pathogens are highlighted in articles on HSV CMV VZV staphylococcal species and Candida Finally the rationale for the most recent changes to guidelines for initiating therapy for early onset neonatal sepsis are reviewed

Renal and Urologic Issues, An Issue of Clinics in Perinatology Michelle Rheault,2014-09-28 Kidney anomalies are the most frequent abnormality detected on prenatal ultrasound Some are inconsequential and others are life threatening All must be addressed by neonatologists This edition of Pediatric Clinics of Perinatology covers these anomalies In addition it addresses a variety of other nephrology and urology issues that neonatologists confront Some are rare and the chapter may then serve as an important resource Others are common and thus will provide updated information on diagnosis and management

Current Controversies in Perinatology, An Issue of Clinics in Perinatology Robert H. Lane,2014-11-20 Neonatal perinatal medicine has a strong history of evidence based practice but unfortunately there remain many areas of uncertainty and unproven hypotheses and treatments that may harm our highly vulnerable patients When new ideas are introduced into the labor and delivery room or the NICU we have to evaluate these procedures and therapies before they become accepted as standards of care We need to learn from the past lessons of grey baby syndrome and chloramphenicol and of kernicterus and sulfonamide antibiotics where therapeutic good intentions actually did more harm than good and increased the mortality rate of premature babies in the NICU This proposed edition addresses a broad range of current topics in perinatal neonatal practice The AAP has just issued new guidelines for the approach to a neonate exposed to maternal genital herpes virus infection The recommendations were not evidence based and are highly controversial as well as confusing These topics are addressed in a scholarly and objective manner to both address the controversy and help the practitioner make informed decisions

Concepts in Neonatal Nutrition, An Issue of Clinics in Perinatology Brenda Poindexter,2014-06-28 Over the past several decades advances in neonatal nutrition have focused on the provision of early parenteral nutrition and the development of formulas and supplements that most closely approximate maternal breast milk The overall outcomes for infants including premature infants have greatly benefited from these advances but there are still many nutritional unknowns that impact the lives of neonates This is an exciting time in neonatal nutrition as the focus has shifted from survival and growth which are still important goals to effects of each micro macronutrient on development prevention of disease states such as ROP the effects of neonatal nutrition on future health as an adult and opportunities to improve long term neurodevelopmental outcomes by optimal early nutrition This issue focuses on aspects of enteral and parenteral nutrition that are at the forefront of neonatal care assessing growth parenteral nutrition components including alternate lipid formulations optimal storage and use of human milk including donor milk post discharge nutrition and the effects of various micro macronutrients on long term developmental outcomes It is anticipated that the study and implementation of many of these novel concepts into the care of neonates many of whom are severely premature will be of value to practitioners researchers and most of all patients
