Seven Therapeutic Stories Liliana Conde,2018-08-30 Traveling is always a way to get to know each other Traveling with parents educators is a form of communication meeting and understanding for life and experiences It is from three to seven years sensibly that the child experiences a chaotic reality We can classify their world as a real chaos They believe that people are bad or good they are the prettiest or the ugliest the bravest or the most medically the happiest or the saddest the ones who love and hate Through these therapeutic histories quite simple but with current subjects the child learns to rearrange all this inner chaos By identifying with the hero the child relives their drama and finds solutions along with the character who lived it When the child works at the level of the unconscious traveling with the character her resolution is faster because she relies on what history tells her since that world represents her world her drama The child easily concludes that others have already lived the same experiences and only they can understand teach This book in addition to entertaining amuse and give information also gives the child key tools used in hypnosis therapies for children to use in future situations in this situation or in others The child learns to self reprogram their thoughts and feelings and it is best that parents educators also participate in this process Parents and educators are therefore invited to participate in these adventures creating moments of magic and unity with their children Only by reading imagining and even adding details to the story traveling to a magical world knowing that in the end they will all return lighter more well disposed and readier for reality     Magic and Miracles. By the Author of "Gallery of English Freethinkers". Reprinted from the
