40 Strategies for Guiding Readers Through Informational Texts Barbara Moss, Virginia Loh-Hagan, 2016-05-23

Gaining the skills to critically read a wide variety of informational texts is more important than ever for today's K-12 students. This carefully crafted book offers 40 standards-based instructional activities that teachers can immediately put to use in the classroom. Clear rationales and step-by-step instructions are provided for implementing each strategy together with helpful classroom examples and suggested texts for different grade levels. In a large size format for easy photocopying, the book includes 44 reproducible worksheets. Purchasers get access to a Web page where they can download and print the reproducible materials. Prior edition title: 35 Strategies for Guiding Readers through Informational Texts. New to This Edition: Now features more strategies including 16 that are completely new. Explicit links throughout to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) and other current standards. Two additional strands of activities: Reading Closely and Discussion. Numerous new and revised reproducible tools all downloadable.

Science Inquiry Argument and Language describes research that has focused on addressing the issue of embedding language practices within science inquiry through the use of the Science Writing Heuristic approach. In recent years much attention has been given to two areas of science education: scientific argumentation and science literacy. The research into scientific argument have adopted different orientations with some focusing on science argument as separate to normal teaching practices that is teaching students about science argument prior to using it in the classroom context while others have focused on embedding science argument as a critical component of the inquiry process. The current emphasis on science literacy has emerged because of greater understanding of the role of language in doing and reporting on science Science is not viewed as being separate from language and thus there is emerging research emphasis on how best to improving science teaching and learning through a language perspective Again the research orientations are parallel to the research on scientific argumentation in that the focus is generally between instruction separate to practice as opposed to embedding language practices within the science classroom context
