

Negotiation Role-Play

1. You received letters from your tax lawyer regarding your tax audit. You are still awaiting a response from your tax lawyer (providing you with the information you need to negotiate the audit). Discuss what you will negotiate in this meeting.
2. You previously sought legal advice and learned you will prove innocent. This will greatly increase your confidence in this meeting. You will negotiate to have your innocence proven through the evidence you have.
3. You have been offered a job. The job offer would include: benefits specific to the client, and the opportunity to work with your family. Discuss what you will negotiate.
4. You are on a team meeting. You receive news that your colleague has been promoted. You should prove yourself sufficient. What do you do?
5. You are negotiating an advertising contract amendment. The client wants to convert Pinsky advertising from print media to digital media. What do you do?
6. You received an email from another company that you should have a stronger business relationship. You will offer an 18% raise. However, Mr. Taylor (Business Relations) stated the 18% raise is unacceptable.
7. A government official wants you to negotiate the remaining set of conditions of your independence. What do you do?
8. You are negotiating a 40% reduction from your pay. You should take the 30% and then offer your client a 10% raise. However, you are given the condition to leave. What do you do?
9. You are in a negotiation with your colleague. You are given the task of negotiating with your colleague. Your colleague is more experienced than you are. Your colleague should have more experience. What do you do? (Use the negotiation on Supplier and Client)
10. You are in a negotiation with your colleague. You are given the task of negotiating with your colleague. Your colleague is more experienced than you are. Your colleague should have more experience. What do you do? (Use the negotiation on Supplier and Client)

50 Activities to Teach Negotiation Ira Asherman, Ira G. Asherman, 1996 This collection of fully reproducible trainer led exercises teaches and reinforces the skills necessary to be a successful negotiator. Skills include being assertive, questionning techniques, surfacing intangibles, planning a negotiation, managing expectations, building trust and more. Training

Strategies for Crisis and Hostage Negotiations Arthur A. Slatkin, 2009 Training Strategies for Crisis and Hostage Negotiations was written for trainers who are tasked with providing role play scenario driven training that is challenging, novel, interesting, varied and motivating. A trainer may play a larger role as leader, expert, teacher, coordinator, planner, facilitator, resource manager, librarian, observer, evaluator, talent agent, developer and as a liaison with local, regional and national groups. Role play remains the principal resource as the most effective way to train negotiators. Of course, novice and experienced scenarios can be written in any number of ways with role plays having endless possible variations that provide needed practice under controlled circumstances. Role play has been employed in numerous and diverse settings in the behavioral sciences, government, military, medicine and business, affording needed practice under these controlled circumstances. The book observes training plans, goals and objectives, roles of trainers, scenario writing subjects and realistic guidelines for role players, creative variations for role play practice plus feedback and evaluation. The author adds knowledge about constructing scenarios that teach and challenge, making role plays more powerful and enlivening. Foundation material is included about the role of the trainer, the trainee, adult learning and the important process of evaluation and the creative use of role play. In addition to the basic principles and mechanics of training strategies, skill building exercises are presented which can be used to serve unique settings and circumstances. The basics of active listening skills, negotiations, stratagems, analysis of personality and training techniques to properly master the basic skills for negotiators at all levels are among the many facets of this resource. The author presents a constant review and application of fundamentals in the negotiation world that has produced successful resolutions and competent skilled negotiators. For the trainer, negotiator, supervisor or academy instructor, this manual will be an invaluable training source. Crisis Negotiations Michael J. McMains, Wayman C.

Mullins, 2014-09-19. Leading authorities on negotiations present the result of years of research, application, testing and experimentation and practical experience. Principles and applications from numerous disciplines are combined to create a conceptual framework for the hostage negotiator. Ideas and concepts are explained so that the practicing negotiator can apply the principles outlined.

Role-Playing for Supervisors J. Maxwell Towers, 2016-06-06 Role Playing for Supervisors explores how role playing can help potential supervisors and supervisors already in post to get the feel of applying the principles of supervision in practice. Exercises designed to develop objective attitudes and reactions to a range of industrial problems and to grapple with these problems by assuming the roles of the real life participants are included. This book is comprised of 11 chapters and begins by explaining the rationale for role playing. The next chapter is an exercise that reflects the problems faced by a supervisor of a crane manufacturing company The following chapters present exercises that deal with industrial misconduct a lightning strike productivity bargaining and restrictive practices and how to remove them Another exercise focuses on the growth and decay of a small shipyard and the management s attempts to achieve recovery through diversification The remaining exercises address the subject of anti management activity whether an apprentice who participated in a sit down demonstration outside the factory is a revolutionary and how to deal with him accordingly and racism in industry This monograph will be a valuable resource for supervisors and managers employees and company training officers

Battlefields of Negotiation René Glas,2025-10-01 The massively multiplayer online role playing game World of Warcraft has become one of the most popular computer games of the past decade introducing millions around the world to community based play Within the boundaries set by its design the game encourages players to appropriate and shape the game to their own wishes resulting in highly diverse forms of play and participation This illuminating study frames World of Warcraft as a complex socio cultural phenomenon defined by and evolving as a result of the negotiations between groups of players as well as the game s owners throwing new light on complex consumer producer relationships in the increasingly participatory but still tightly controlled media of online games
