Networking Arguments:

Networking Arguments Rebecca Dingo, 2012-04-22 Networking Arguments presents an original study on the use and misuse of global institutional rhetoric and the effects of these practices on women particularly in developing countries Using a feminist lens Rebecca Dingo views the complex networks that rhetoric flows through globally and nationally and how it is often reconfigured to work both for and against women and to maintain existing power structures To see how rhetorics travel Dingo deconstructs the central terminology employed by global institutions mainstreaming fitness and empowerment and shows how their meanings shift depending on the contexts in which they are used She studies programs by the World Bank the United Nations and the United States among others to view the original policies then follows the trail of their diffusion and manipulation and the ultimate consequences for individuals To analyze transnational rhetorical processes Dingo builds a theoretical framework by employing concepts of transcoding ideological traffic and interarticulation to uncover the intricacies of power relationships at work within networks She also views transnational capitalism neoliberal economics and neocolonial ideologies as primary determinants of policy and arguments over women's roles in the global economy Networking Arguments offers a new method of feminist rhetorical analysis that allows for an increased understanding of global gender policies and encourages strategies to counteract the negative effects they can create

Networking Argument Carol Winkler, 2019-11-11 This edited volume presents selected works from the 20th Biennial Alta Argumentation Conference sponsored by the National Communication Association and the American Forensics Association and held in 2017 The conference brought together scholars from Europe Asia and North America to engage in intensive conversations about how argument functions in our increasingly networked society The essays discuss four aspects of networked argument Some examine arguments occurring in online networks seeking to both understand and respond more effectively to the acute changes underway in the information age Others focus on offline networks to identify historical and contemporary resources available to advocates in the modern day Still others discuss the value added of including argumentation scholars on interdisciplinary research teams analyzing a diverse range of subjects including science education health law economics history security and media Finally the remainder network argumentation theories explore how the interactions between and among existing theories offer fruitful ground for new insights for the field of argumentation studies The wide range of disciplinary backgrounds and methodological approaches employed in Networking Argument make this volume a unique compilation of perspectives for understanding urgent and sustaining issues facing our society
