

South Africa's Anti-Apartheid Activists

Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela (Madiba)

18 July 1918 – 05 December 2013

"Do not judge me by my successes, judge me by how many times I fell down and got back up again."

"... To be free is not merely to cast off one's chains, but to live in a way that respects and enhances the freedom of others."

First Democratically Elected President of South Africa

Over 260 awards, accolades, honours and other recognitions have been bestowed on Nelson Mandela over the course of 40 years. The most notable of these is the Nobel Peace Prize in 1993, which he shared with F.W. De Klerk, the state president of South Africa at the time, for their combined effort in working towards a better South Africa.

Nelson Mandela fought for equality and equity for all people, regardless of skin colour, religion, culture, and language. After establishing the ANC Youth League with Walter Sisulu and Oliver Tambo in 1943, he fought alongside many other brave struggle heroes for freedom and justice for all South African citizens.

He was arrested for treason in 1962 and sentenced to life imprisonment in 1963. Madiba spent most of his imprisonment on Robben Island, thereafter he was moved to Pollsmoor and was moved to Victor Verster Prison in 1988 where he would serve the final years of his sentence before being released by state president F.W. de Klerk.

Upon his release, negotiations with the ruling government delegation began and things slowly started changing in South Africa – the State of Emergency was ended, a ceasefire between the military wing of the ANC, Umkhonto we Sizwe, and the South African Defence Force was called, and the wheels for South Africa's first democratic election were set in motion.
