Urban Villages and Local Identities Kurt E. Kinbacher, 2015 Urban Villages and Local Identities examines immigration to the Great Plains by surveying the experiences of three divergent ethnic groups Volga Germans Omaha Indians and Vietnamese that settled in enclaves in Lincoln Nebraska beginning in 1876 1941 and 1975 respectively These urban villages served as safe havens that protected new arrivals from a mainstream that often eschewed unfamiliar cultural practices Lincoln's large Volga German population was last fully discussed in 1918 Omahas are rarely studied as urban people although sixty five percent of their population lives in cities and the growing body of work on Vietnamese tends to be conducted by social scientists rather than historians few of whom contrast Southeast Asian experiences with those of earlier waves of immigration As a comparative study Urban Villages and Local Identities is inspired in part by Reinventing Free Labor by Gunther Peck By focusing on the experiences of three populations over the course of 130 years Urban Villages connects two distinct eras of international border crossing and broadens the field of immigration to include Native Americans Ultimately the work yields insights into the complexity flexibility and durability of cultural identities among ethnic groups and the urban mainstream in one capital city
