

BUILD Vocabulary

ionic bond chemical bond formed when one or more electrons are transferred from one atom to another

ion atom that has a positive or negative charge

covalent bond type of bond between atoms in which the electrons are shared molecule smallest unit of most compounds that displays all the properties of that compound

van der Waals forces weak attraction that develops between oppositely charged regions of nearby molecules

Preface The prefix co- and co- mean “together.” A compound is made up of elements joined together, and a covalent bond connects atoms that share electrons together. How are covalent bonds different from ionic bonds?

Chemical Bonds

KEY QUESTION What are the main types of chemical bonds?

The atoms in compounds are held together by chemical bonds. Bonds are formed by the electrons in the outer shell, which are called valence electrons. The main types of chemical bonds are ionic bonds and covalent bonds.

Ionic Bonds Ionic bonds are formed when one or more electrons are transferred from one atom to another. This transfer causes the atom losing the electrons to become positively charged. The atom gaining the electrons becomes negatively charged. The positively and negatively charged atoms become ions. The oppositely charged ions are attracted to each other and form an ionic bond.

Covalent Bonds Sometimes atoms share electrons rather than transferring them. These shared electrons move around the nuclei of both atoms. The bond formed by sharing electrons is called a covalent bond. Atoms can share between two and six electrons. The structure that results is known as a molecule. A molecule is the smallest unit of most compounds.

Weak Interactions The strongest chemical bonds are ionic or covalent. Weak interactions between atoms are also important. Within living organisms, many molecules interact only briefly. Van der Waals forces are one type of weak interaction between molecules. They occur when molecules are very close together.

Hydrogen bonds are another type of weak interaction. They occur between a hydrogen atom of one molecule and an oxygen or nitrogen atom of a neighboring molecule.

Rossiter, 2015-10-21 In the century and a half since Darwin's Origin of Species there has been an ongoing and often vociferously argued conversation about our species place in creation and its relationship to a Creator. A growing number of academic professionals see no conflict between Darwin's view of life and the Christian faith. Dubbed theistic evolution, this brand of Christianity holds that God has used processes like Darwinian evolution to achieve his creation. But is that true? Can Darwin's mechanism of natural selection acting on chance mutations be reconciled with God's intentionality in producing particular outcomes? Does humanity represent the apex of his creation or just an erasable and ephemeral signpost along a path still being revealed? Does theistic evolution permit God to intervene supernaturally in the workings of his creation? Can we as humans be made in the image of God if we are just one of the millions of products of evolution? Can we salvage concepts like freewill, meaning, purpose, or an eternal soul within theistic evolution? In this book, Wayne Rossiter assesses theistic evolution and whether or not it is consistent with Christianity and secular science. His conclusion is that it bears little resemblance to classical Christianity and promotes a century-old understanding of evolutionary theory. Theistic evolution renders God a passive player in creation, so far removed and undetectable that he resembles a mere shadow of the Creator described in Christianity.
