Project Management Reporting: The Art and Science of Performance Measurement

1. When the economy is in expansion, firms experience low volatility, confidence is high, and there is little uncertainty about the future. This is a favorable environment for investment.
2. When the economy is in contraction, firms experience high volatility, confidence is low, and there is a lot of uncertainty about the future. This is an unfavorable environment for investment.
3. For investment decisions, firms have two types of uncertainty: short-term and long-term. Short-term uncertainty is about future economic conditions, while long-term uncertainty is about future technological progress.
4. Short-term uncertainty is more important for investment decisions, while long-term uncertainty is less important.
5. The effect of short-term uncertainty on investment decisions is more pronounced than the effect of long-term uncertainty.
