

How Migration and Poverty relate to each other?

01

This relationship is bidirectional.

Let's understand this better

Migration can be a way out of poverty

Migration often results in a way out of poverty when people move in search of better social and economic opportunities

Some migration causes or deepens poverty

Deep migration or migration on refugee terms, such as forced labour, could be a route to extreme poverty.

Poverty inhibits international migration

People living in extreme poverty are more likely to migrate within their countries of origin or to other low- and middle-income countries (LMICs) where prospects of poverty reduction may be lower.

Poverty can prevent migration

Migration requires financial, social, and human capital resources. People experiencing poverty may choose to move but lack the capacity to do so.

02

Busting the myths

MYTH 1

Only people experiencing poverty or vulnerability migrate

IN PRACTICE

2/3 of international migrants are migrants without poverty

3.6%

are from low-income countries

Most high-income countries are big senders of migrants, including the United States, Canada, Australia, and the United Kingdom.

High-income countries are big receivers of migrants, including Mexico, India, and China.

MYTH 2

Europe and North America are destinations for most refugees

IN PRACTICE

3.4 mil.

Refugees migrating to the Americas, Europe, and Oceania make up the largest proportions of refugees.

Germany, one with 2.8 million, followed by Sweden with slightly less than 2.6 million.

Refugees include 2.3 million refugees.

MYTH 3

Refugees make up the largest number of migrants

IN PRACTICE

59.1 mil.

Refugees globally making them the smallest share of international migrants.

There were no refugees.

27.1 mil.

Refugees globally making them the smallest share of international migrants.

MYTH 4

Only refugees migrate to developed countries

IN PRACTICE

1/3 of all international migrants

reside within their regions of origin, South-Southern Africa holding the largest share of intra-regional migration.

Europe

63%

of all cross-border

migration is from other European countries.

03

Knowledge Gap

Lack of disaggregating data by both terms of migration poverty dimensions.

Focus is often on international migration, rather than internal migration. It is likely that internal and international migration lead to poverty.

Lack of focus on internal migration dimensions (from one's own country to another).

Challenging to track the movement of people for comparing dimensions of who comes and goes to migrate, and understanding of internal migration.

Focus on research that could narrow these knowledge gaps will help make better policy decisions around poverty and migration.
