environmental pressures on our planet. These include but are not limited to greenhouse gas emissions, biodiversity loss, excessive water usage, and problems with nutrient cycles. In addition, issues such as the treatment of farm animals has attracted considerable media and public attention from the ethical point of view. Therefore, the prominent questions discussed in this book are: What are the most important ethical issues in our fisheries, agriculture, and food systems? How should we govern food systems when sustainability is a key goal? What kind of management tools are available for this purpose? Who is responsible for making the agriculture and food system more sustainable?
