also issued one that led to the incarceration of Japanese Americans during World War II Truman issued orders to desegregate the military and compel loyalty oaths for federal employees Eisenhower issued numerous national security directives JFK launched the Peace Corps and issued an order to control racial violence in Alabama All through executive action

Cold War and Black Liberation Thomas J. Noer, 1985 For too long Africa has been the dark continent in the history of American foreign relations Recent debate over the importance of human rights however has focused attention on that continent Thomas Noer's study of U.S. policy toward the regimes of South Africa Rhodesia and Angola is among the first to explore the African angle in American diplomacy It is also the first work to analyze the influence of the American civil rights and black power movements on foreign relations Based on extensive research in recently declassified materials Cold War and Black Liberation documents the intense debates and diplomatic dilemmas arising in 1948 with the triumph of South Africa's Nationalist party and its ensuing policy of apartheid In the context of the emerging civil rights movement in the United States Noer then details America's response to the international problem of white rule on a black continent concluding his study with an epilogue that carries the narrative into the 1980s Noer's study also illustrates the basic conflict in American diplomacy between traditional commitments to majority rule and human rights and more immediate and often prevailing strategic economic and political interests The emotional issues of race human rights and anticomunism make policy decisions complex and controversial as American blacks black Africans European allies and the white minority governments all lobbied to influence U.S. policy Directions, 1979 Guide to U.S. Government Publications John L. Andriot, Donna Andriot, 2012 Middle East Review, 1988
