Speaking Kunjen B. A. Sommer, 2006 This book examines the interface between language and kinship in the Australian Aboriginal language Kunjen which is spoken in the Cape York region of northern Queensland. The author shows that kinship relations play a major role in determining the kinds of linguistic interactions that are appropriate for different groups of individuals. The social meaning of utterances depends more than anything else on kinship and one's kin relations with those one communicates with. The rules of interpretation used by Kunjen speakers to mediate kinship and language are as complex and as pervasive as the grammatical rules of the language itself and help to reveal aspects of linguistic structure that might not otherwise be obvious.

Conversely kinship structures can be illuminated if not revealed by the study of language use Ethnographic Eyes Carolyn Frank,1999 Ethnographic Eyes extends ethnography beyond the work of university researchers and proves what an accessible and instructive observation tool it can be for inservice and preservice teachers The Discourse System of American Lesbians and Gays Anita Carolyn Liang,1998
