The Academic Discourse of Mechanical Engineering Thi Ngoc Phuong Le, Minh Man Pham, Michael Barlow, 2023-03-15 This volume examines rhetorical conventions employed in mechanical engineering research to understand the knowledge making principles of the discipline as well as their expression within the research article. In particular the study analyses the organisational patterns of mechanical engineering research articles using Swales's conceptualisation of moves and steps. In addition the research identifies the phraseology associated with specific moves and steps. The study draws on a corpus of 120 mechanical engineering research articles equally distributed across two sub disciplines mechanical systems and thermal fluids engineering three research traditions experimental, theoretical and mixed methods and two publication periods 2002-2006 and 2012-2016. It adopts an integrated methodology intertwining various approaches and perspectives including corpus linguistics move analysis, discourse analysis and interviews to address two main strands of research enquiry i) What are the properties of the rhetorical structures in terms of range, frequency and length for each section of mechanical engineering research articles? ii) What effect does sub discipline, research tradition and publication date have on the rhetorical structure of research articles?

This book presents a framework for teaching second language and multilingual writing that integrates Concept Based Language Instruction and Genre Based Writing Pedagogy. The authors present three large scale implementations within a graduate legal writing context, a cross disciplinary doctoral research writing context and a graduate mechanical engineering context and demonstrate how the pedagogical and theoretical framework is interdisciplinary, flexible and comprehensive. It provides a means of theorizing, researching, teaching and assessing the development of second language writer genre knowledge from nascent through expertise and equips second language writing instructors with a theoretical and practical toolkit to empower student writers to be more agentive, aware and strategic in their writing.
