1. When the economy is in expansion, firms experience low volatility, confidence is high, and there is little uncertainty about the future. This is a favorable environment for investment.
2. When the economy is in contraction, firms experience high volatility, confidence is low, and there is a lot of uncertainty about the future. This is an unfavorable environment for investment.
3. For investment decisions, firms have the best opportunity to offer new products when the economy is in expansion, and they experience success. Only firms that succeed in this environment are likely to be successful.
4. Firms that experience success in expansion are likely to be successful and to experience growth.
5. Firms that experience success in expansion are likely to be successful and to experience growth.
6. The effects of the expansion can be passed on from firms that experience success in expansion to the rest of the economy, through the multiplier effect.
