The journey to change this involves confronting some long standing beliefs and structures in education. When supported with the right structures instructional shifts, coalition building and educator training and support the detracking of mathematics courses can be a primary pathway to equity. The ultimate goal is to increase more students' access to and achievement in higher levels of mathematics learning especially for students who are historically marginalized. By sharing stories of real world examples lessons learned and prompts to provoke discussion about your own context the book walks you through Designing and gaining support for a policy of detracked math courses.
