Whales

Despite living in the water, whales breathe air. Like humans, they are warm-blooded mammals who nurse their young. A thick layer of fat called blubber insulates them from the cold ocean waters.

Whales roam throughout all of the world's oceans, communicating with mysterious and complex sounds. Their sheer size is amazing. The blue whale can reach lengths of more than 100 feet and weigh up to 200 tons—as much as 30 elephants.

How do they eat?

Some whales have teeth, such as belugas or sperm whales. Other whales are known as baleen whales. This refers to the fact that they have special bristle-like structures in their mouths called baleen that strain food from the water. Blue whales

Extreme Weather

What is extreme weather?

Weather usually affects most people only a few times in their lives. Hurricanes, tornadoes, blizzards, and hurricanes are a few examples of extreme weather. Give us the information we need so that we can survive these times.

Let's look at tornadoes. They are different from tropical storms, typhoons, and hurricanes because they form over land.

How does extreme weather affect people?

Strong winds, tornadoes, large hail, flooding streets, and snow can sometimes result in hazardous conditions.

In case of a tornado, get down and underground if you can. If you cannot, go to the lowest floor possible. If you're flying and falling objects are a problem, get natural. Use items like pillows, blankets, coats, and hats to protect your head and body.
