A Cyclical Model of Literacy Learning Adrienne Minnery, Antony T. Smith, 2024 This book introduces the Cycle of Responsibility COR model the next step in the evolution of the Gradual Release of Responsibility model which has been a conceptual mainstay of literacy education for decades. This new model shifts the current linear model to a cyclical process of multifaceted interactions that better reflect the complexities of early literacy and with an emphasis on constructing knowledge together in the context of vibrant learning communities. Focused on reading, writing, and word study in the primary grades, the COR is put into motion through five key motivators: challenge, creativity, collaboration, choice, and independence. Vignettes demonstrate how to enact COR in classroom contexts. This practical resource is based on the authors' shared research and teaching experiences in employing the COR to empower children as literacy learners and teachers as agents of impactful instruction. Book Features: Presents the Cycle of Responsibility model, a new field tested teaching and learning model; Moves away from linear task completion to a cyclical collaborative process that reflects the energetic, complex, and creative world of classrooms; Provides a teacher centric approach that emphasizes shared construction of knowledge and the forces that motivate young learners; Includes vignettes from the author's first grade classroom to illustrate ideas in practice as well as a chapter on teacher professional learning. This book is a great example of how committed scholars of practice can transport research based practices into a discourse that speaks to teachers. Read it Try it You'll like it From the Foreword by P. Addressing Difficulties in Literacy Development Gavin Reid, Janet Soler, Janice Wearmouth, 2013-09-27 This book outlines and critiques international strategies and programmes designed to address difficulties in literacy development. The high profile team of contributors consider teaching programmes which operate at family, school, pupil and teacher levels. They argue that school is not the only legitimate location for literacy education and show how difficulties in literacy can be addressed sequentially both in and out of the school context. Issues addressed include the dilemmas facing practitioners in choosing between multiple approaches to practice, the factors which must be addressed in strategies which operate at the level of the family and the community, how to ensure the school can support programmes designed to improve literacy learning, how to put theory into practice in programmes designed for use with individual students, the teacher as reflective practitioner, developing professional practice which effectively raises literacy achievement. This book will be of interest to postgraduate students, teachers, researchers, educational professionals and policymakers who are looking for practical strategies to address difficulties in literacy development. This reader forms the basis of the Open University's Difficulties in Literacy Development course and is ideal for similar courses nationally and internationally.

Power, Culture, and Family-School Relations Jen Stacy, 2025-01-30. Power Culture and Family School Relations Towards Culturally Sustaining Practices explores the extent to which common practices in school based family outreach advance equity or sustain the status quo in power and cultural relations. Using a rich ethnographic account of a school based family literacy program in Nebraska, the book unfolds the daily cultural practices of the program so that readers may visualize and contemplate how and if the program serves newcomer and refugee families within the unique context of the New Latinx Diaspora. The author draws upon critical theory to showcase how neoliberal and deficit ideologies are at play throughout the different aspects of the program, the influence these ideologies have on the participants and the tactics used by the caregivers to resist and change the programmatic structures and curriculum to meet their needs. As such the book invites educators, administrators and scholars into the nebulous and difficult conversation about how schools, paradoxical entities that often colonize but prospectively liberate, must not just rethink how they work with parents and caregivers but rather dismantle traditional cultural practices that seek to assimilate minoritized families. Showcasing the power of ethnography as a tool which can be used to support educators and scholars to understand cultural elements of family outreach programs on a semiotic level and how transforming these semiotic building blocks can lead to equitable relationships, it will appeal to scholars and researchers with interests in adult education, social foundations of education, critical ethnography, multilingual Adult Basic Education and family outreach.
