Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System:

Mozambique's Experience in Building a National Extension System Helder Gemo, Carl K. Eicher, Solomon

Teclemariam, 2005 Agricultural extension services are undergoing rapid change in many countries with a shift in funding and management from the public to the private sector. This is especially true in Africa where donors from industrial countries and more recently from the middle income developing countries such as Chile have historically promoted and financed those extension models. Currently African nations are being encouraged to import the Farmer Field School extension model which is meeting with some success in Asia. Mozambique a former Portuguese colony became independent in 1975 but was wracked by civil war in the 1980s. It was unable to establish its public extension service until 1987. The authors analyze the growth and evolution of extension from 1987 to 2004 as provided by public, private and NGO sources in Mozambique. This work highlights the Ministry of Agriculture's drive to develop and test both local and imported extension models and share its experience with other African countries.

Agricultural Extension Raj Saravanan, R. Saravanan, 2008 Agricultural extension is in a great transition worldwide. The demand for public extension reform is greater than ever before. The agriculture knowledge infrastructure is evolving in a big way with the emergence of pluralistic extension actors and innovations to cater the needs of the farmer. This book is an attempt to document the past experiences and recent developments in the agriculture knowledge information systems. The compilation of 14 country chapters such as Afghanistan, Benin, Cote d'Ivoire, Ghana, India, Iran, Mozambique, Nepal, Peru, Philippines, Trinidad and Tobago, and Zimbabwe is intended to document the experience of extension systems. The fourteen country chapters highlight the worldwide agricultural extension reform measures: Decentralization, Privatization, Demand driven and Cost recovery approaches, Institutional Pluralism, Public, Private and NGOs and Innovations, Farmer to Farmer extension, Participatory and Self Help Group, SHG approaches and ICT initiatives. The agricultural extension students, academicians, scientist, practitioners, administrators and policy makers will find this compilation of extension experiences from the fourteen countries relevant for designing future reforms advancing pluralistic extension system and also to integrating innovations in their extension approaches.

African Smallholders Göran Djurfeldt, Ernest Aryeetey, Aida C. Isinika, 2011 This book investigates how the changed agricultural policy climate affected government policies in the nine countries studied already as part of the preceding project Ethiopia, Ghana, Kenya, Malawi, Mozambique, Nigeria, Tanzania, Uganda, and Zambia. By repeating the cross sectional survey made in over 100 villages in 2002 and converting it into a panel it is possible to trace village and household level effects of agricultural policies and other macro level processes. The book consists of 14 chapters most of which revolve around studies on each of the nine case study countries.

Empowering smallholder farmers' organizations through non-public extension service providers: A case study and lessons from Mozambique Gêmo, Hélder R., Babu, Suresh Chandra, 2019-02-21 The role and impact of non state extension services providers have not been studied adequately. In this paper we assess the performance of the non State extension service provision through farmers organization FOs in Mozambique Using participating methods focused group discussions and key informant interviews we provide an assessment of extension services provision to FOs The result indicates only 3% of the 1264 surveyed FOs were categorized as type A the highest FOs rating scale used by services providers SPs in the three regions of the country Effective monitoring and evaluation regular analytical participatory at field level and close working interaction between the Public Agricultural Extension Services PAES and the SPs were of paramount importance to track the progress made in empowering the FOs SPs pro activeness and competence were critical factors to adequately address the various training needs of the different categories of FOs and local services providers SPs financial autonomy was key to compensate for the delays in the disbursements by the PAES The selection criteria for the participating farmers trainees from targeted FOs makes a difference Younger and more literate farmers including women have shown greater motivation and engagement in the training sessions Outsourcing can be a valuable alternative for the provision of extension services if it targets specific intervention areas for example training for FOs a limited number of activities well defined deliverables including quality and sustainability issues and timelines Post training and post project actions at the policy level and extension services providers are required to contribute to the sustainability of the investment made Based on these findings the paper documents several operational lessons from the implementation of the program

Community-based adaptation Hannah Reid,2017-10-02

Community based adaptation CBA to climate change is based on local priorities needs knowledge and capacities Early CBA initiatives were generally implemented by non government organisations NGOs and operated primarily at the local level Many used bottom up participatory processes to identify the climate change problem and appropriate responses Small localised stand alone initiatives are insufficient to address the scale of challenges climate change will bring however The causes of vulnerability such as market or service access or good governance also often operate beyond the project level Larger organisations and national governments have therefore started to implement broader CBA programmes which provide opportunities to scale up responses and integrate CBA into higher levels of policy and planning This book shows that it is possible for CBA to remain centred on local priorities but not necessarily limited to work implemented at the local level Some chapters address the issue of mainstreaming CBA into government policy and planning processes or into city or sectoral level

plans e g on agriculture Others look at how gender and children s issues should be mainstreamed into adaptation planning itself and others describe how tools can be applied and finance delivered for effective mainstreaming This book was published as a special issue of Climate and Development Changing Roles of Agricultural Extension in Asian Nations A. ## Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System Introduction

In the digital age, access to information has become easier than ever before. The ability to download Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System has revolutionized the way we consume written content. Whether you are a student looking for course material, an avid reader searching for your next favorite book, or a professional seeking research papers, the option to download Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System has opened up a world of possibilities. Downloading Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System provides numerous advantages over physical copies of books and documents. Firstly, it is incredibly convenient. Gone are the days of carrying around heavy textbooks or bulky folders filled with papers. With the click of a button, you can gain immediate access to valuable resources on any device. This convenience allows for efficient studying, researching, and reading on the go.

Moreover, the cost-effective nature of downloading Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System has democratized knowledge. Traditional books and academic journals can be expensive, making it difficult for individuals with limited financial resources to access information. By offering free PDF downloads, publishers and authors are enabling a wider audience to benefit from their work. This inclusivity promotes equal opportunities for learning and personal growth. There are numerous websites and platforms where individuals can download Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System. These websites range from academic databases offering research papers and journals to online libraries with an expansive collection of books from various genres. Many authors and publishers also upload their work to specific websites, granting readers access to their content without any charge. These platforms not only provide access to existing literature but also serve as an excellent platform for undiscovered authors to share their work with the world.

However, it is essential to be cautious while downloading Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System. Some websites may offer pirated or illegally obtained copies of copyrighted material. Engaging in such activities not only violates copyright laws but also undermines the efforts of authors, publishers, and researchers. To ensure ethical downloading, it is advisable to utilize reputable websites that prioritize the legal distribution of content. When downloading Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System, users should also consider the potential security risks associated with online platforms. Malicious actors may exploit vulnerabilities in unprotected websites to distribute malware or steal personal information. To protect themselves, individuals should ensure their devices have reliable antivirus software installed and validate the legitimacy of the websites they are downloading from. In conclusion, the ability to download Mozambique's Experience In Building A National Extension System has transformed the way we access information. With the convenience, cost-effectiveness, and accessibility it offers, free PDF downloads have become a popular choice for students, researchers, and book lovers worldwide. However, it is crucial to engage in ethical downloading practices and prioritize personal security when utilizing online platforms. By doing so, individuals can make the most of the vast array of free PDF resources available and embark on a journey of continuous learning and intellectual growth.
