Multicoloured Mayhem Multicoloured Mayhem:

Multicoloured Mayhem Jacqui Jackson, 2004 Presents advice for parents on how to raise children with autism Asperger's syndrome and AD HD Autism Florica Stone, 2004 Stone shows how shared meanings can be learnt and expressed between autistic and non autistic individuals though they experience different perceptions of reality She presents ways of creating autistic friendly environments modifying traditional responses to autistic behaviour and using literal learning providing useful examples and exercises rainbow Sebastian Everglover's Endeavor Donald Rowe, 2010-04-08 The future belongs to the children What can we do to make that future better A new paradigm is formed within these pages that shows how it may be done A little economics and a little science fiction are mixed together with the goal of easing the understanding the complexities of our world The capitalists and the socialists actually can and do work together in this future world and the result is astounding Freaks, Geeks and Asperger Syndrome Luke Jackson, 2002-01-01 Offers insights by a teenager with Asperger's syndrome into the difficulties of the disorder including information on fascinations and obsessions sensory perception sleep bullies moral dilemmas eating and socializing Examining Stereotypes and Parenting Behaviours of South Asian Heritage Parents: Discourse and Case Studies Bhandari, Renu, 2024-06-17 In the field of academic scholarship the study of parenting has been extensive yet it has often been unable to capture the full essence of this complex endeavor The existing literature has often confined itself to the boundaries of individual disciplines This limitation has hindered our understanding of the intricate interplay between these aspects and the values and beliefs that guide parenting Furthermore in the context of South Asian parents in the UK the existing research has typically focused on parents from East and Southeast Asia often leaving the unique experiences of South Asian parents overlooked Examining Stereotypes and Parenting Behaviors of Asian Heritage Parents Discourse and Case Studies offers a pioneering solution to this problem It represents a groundbreaking initiative to break free from the constraints of traditional research methodologies and provide an unfiltered in depth look at the real narratives of South Asian parents in the UK By weaving together the psychological emotional social and cultural dimensions of parenting this book uncovers a holistic view of this complex journey one that transcends the limitations of sociology psychology or cultural studies It does not aim to solve problems but rather seeks to capture authentic family stories and parenting experiences directly from the voices of the parents themselves American Book Publishing Record, 2004 Educating Children with Complex Conditions Winand H Dittrich, Rona Tutt, 2008-09-18 This is an important contribution to the field of SEN By putting the child into a context the authors recognize that each child is unique and cannot be reduced to a simple diagnosis Highly recommended SEN Magazine In just over 100 pages this book gives the clearest account I have yet read of overlapping and co existing conditions All professionals working with children with complex conditions will find it both interesting and practical Special The book is written in an easily digestible form and provides insight into overlapping conditions as well as advice on support to those working to meeting the needs of pupils with these complex disorders SNIP Many have tried but few have succeeded in bringing together the varying threads of special educational needs into a concise and proactive format I know having tried and failed myself Here at last Dittrich and Tutt have created a fascinating account of the current SEN world and have succeeded in my opinion in demystifying and explaining the significance of specific SEN terms while illustrating that overlap is more the norm than the exception Well researched and written with both clarity and experience the authors stress that there really is no such thing as a SEN child but that some children are in essence more interesting in their learning and behaviour style than others Fintan O Regan Author and Consultant There are growing numbers of children displaying the symptoms of more than one condition or disorder and this has led to those involved in education needing to understand which conditions commonly overlap or co exist and how to meet children s more complex needs By bringing together some of the latest research on how the brain learns with what is known about identifying developmental disorders that appear to have a common biological basis this book covers what is known about a common group of disorders including ADHD autistic spectrum disorders dyslexia dyscalculia and dyspraxia how to recognise when a child may have more than one condition what teaching approaches and strategies might be most relevant Written in a non technical style the book blends together scientific knowledge from different disciplines and translates it into practical terms for school leaders practitioners in the field of special educational needs and disabilities and students following courses in higher education
