Chatgpt and Other Generative AI Tools Jochen Kuhn,Stefan Küchemann,Knut Neumann, Martina Rau,2025-02-17 In the past ten years applications of generative artificial intelligence GAI have found rapidly growing use in medicine science and daily life Large language models LLMs opened up new avenues in particular for education LLMs have been used to create interactive educational content for students stimulate their curiosity generate code explanations and develop assessment questions Additionally LLMs been applied for language practice anxiety alleviation and feedback provision In higher education LLMs have shown potential for assisting in medical exam preparation and clinical decision making In school education LLMs can help teachers with automated evaluation of student responses and respective adaptive feedback More recently LLM based applications such as chatGPT have been used to generate teaching materials or assessment tasks across different subjects The fields understanding of the effects of the use of LLM based applications in classroom teaching however is still in its infancy GAI tools may help solving a range of tasks in education in particular with respect to teachers and students and teachers efforts to generate content However it is critical that teachers and students do not overly rely on GAI generated solutions but instead critically assess each solution Students should furthermore not use GAI tools to avoid investing relevant mental effort to create mental models or more broadly build up competencies

Artificial Intelligence in Animal Behaviour, Veterinary Behaviour and Neurology

Holger Andreas Volk,Jasmin Nicole Nessler,Anna Zamansky,Sebastian Meller,Annika Bremhorst,2025-08-18 The new leap innovation Artificial Intelligence AI will significantly accelerate the speed of science and translate into clinical practice faster than clinicians ever have been used to Machine and deep learning techniques are now readily available to analyze large and complex data sets providing veterinary scientists with a tool to not only better understand complex behaviour traits and neurological conditions but also to delve into the nuances of animal behaviour itself AI can now write plausible sounding text recognize written or spoken human words recognize objects in images or analyze large amounts of data Different fields of applications are known so far such as improving and speeding up interpretation of radiologic findings interpretation of electroencephalography diagnosis of autism in children objectifying ataxia in dogs detecting pain in cats and assessing and characterizing animal behaviours across species At the time of writing more than 500 AI based algorithms have been approved by the FDA for human medicine most of which are used in radiology and neurology In veterinary neurology and animal behavioural science only a limited amount of research on AI has been done so far Most algorithms presented are merely fragments of usable programs and are not suitable for clinical application Therefore ready to use applications are rare yet essential for implementing AI into everyday routine diagnostic work ups scientific research and animal behavioural assessments The research topic will help to unite current efforts and provide a collection of articles to address some of the current scientific and behavioural gaps In the future a clinician might have a clinical decision support tool that generates accurate estimations of likely outcomes of neurological disease and animal behaviour combining anamnestic behavioural clinical clinical pathology and imaging information We are interested in original research systematic reviews and opinion papers not only about the scope and potential of AI for Veterinary Behavior and Neurology but also about the intersection of AI with the study of animal behaviour ethical considerations and pitfalls that the development of AI generated tools could present Potential themes therefore include but are not limited to AI to recognize monitor diagnose or characterise behaviour neurological deficits or conditions including a detailed analysis of animal behaviour across a variety of contexts and species AI to assess behavioural states in both clinical and natural environments AI to interpret scientific clinical data sets such as clinical pathology omics imaging EEG data and behaviour metrics Ethical and legal considerations when applying or using AI tools in the study of animal behaviour and veterinary medicine Potential of AI to enhance clinical practice in veterinary behavioural medicine veterinary neurology and animal behaviour research Potential of AI enhanced diagnostic and behavioural assessment tools with animals

Artificial Intelligence in Pathogenic Microorganism Research Chen Li, Yu-Dong Yao, Marcin Grzegorzek, 2025-05-26 Infections caused by pathogenic

microorganisms including bacteria viruses fungi and other eukaryotic microbes seriously threaten human health Traditional research methods and laboratory techniques have many limitations and focus more on the identification and classification of pathogenic microorganisms In recent years technologies such as whole genome sequencing and advanced bioinformatics analysis have promoted the research of pathogenic microorganisms However with the interplay of multiple factors like global climate change ecological and environmental changes urbanization social behavior and lifestyle changes pathogenic microorganisms transmission patterns and impact scope are gradually changing There is an urgent need for multidimensional technological approaches to achieve epidemiological monitoring and evolutionary direction prediction of pathogenic microorganisms Additionally more robust data processing and analysis capabilities are required for rapid identification and diagnosis monitoring of drug resistance development of antimicrobial drugs and vaccines and optimization of treatment plans Therefore Artificial Intelligence AI has entered our field of vision In the field of pathogenic microorganisms AI has shown tremendous potential In epidemiological research AI technology can quickly and automatically collect integrate and analyze the epidemic data of infectious diseases from different regions so as to predict the trend and scope of disease transmission and track the source of infection In the process of diagnosis and treatment of infectious diseases machine learning can not only analyze the microscopic images of pathogens but also analyze the genome sequences of multiple pathogens in a short time and predict their sensitivity or resistance to specific antibiotics greatly improving the efficiency and accuracy of diagnosis and treatment of infectious diseases In drug or vaccine development researchers can use AI models to predict efficient antigens for diseases such as HIV and influenza and thus design more effective vaccine candidates AI models can also analyze the interactions between drugs pathogens and patients in order to design the optimal dosing regimen for each patient In a word AI can help human beings better deal with infectious diseases We welcome original reviews articles and other contributions in related fields which mainly include the following aspects 1 The application of AI in the differential diagnosis of pathogenic microorganisms 2 The application of AI in the formulation of anti infection treatment plans 3 The application of AI in monitoring and predicting the prevalence of pathogenic microorganisms 4 Application of AI in the prediction and prevention of infectious diseases caused by pathogenic microorganisms 5 The application of AI in the research and development of anti infective drugs and vaccines

Sanjana,2026-01-12 Research Paper postgraduate from the year 2025 in the subject Economics Finance language English abstract The increasing adoption of Artificial Intelligence AI in financial markets has significantly transformed traditional investment decision making processes

While conventional investment decisions rely heavily on human judgment behavioural finance literature has consistently highlighted the presence of psychological and emotional biases influencing investor behaviour This study empirically examines the impact of AI adoption on investor behaviour and investment decision making Primary data were collected from 260 respondents including individual investors fund managers and financial analysts using a structured questionnaire Descriptive statistics correlation analysis and chi square tests were employed to analyse the data The findings reveal that AI based tools help reduce behavioural biases and improve rational decision making however investors largely perceive AI as a supportive tool rather than a complete replacement for human expertise The study concludes that hybrid decision making models integrating both human intelligence and AI are the most effective approach in modern financial markets Expert
