You Haven't Asked About My Wedding Or What I Wore Jana Harris,2014-10-15 During more than thirty years of reading reminiscences diaries and letters of forgotten North American pioneer women poet Jana Harris noticed one narrative recurring time and again the most powerful memory these women had was often either their courtship and wedding or the courtship and wedding of a family member While these young women who most likely hauled water in a wooden bucket from creek to house and then wore her knees raw scrubbing splintery floors if she was lucky enough to live in a home that had a floor dreamed of a fine wedding it was sometimes with a man they hardly knew Harris captures the hope anxiety anger and despair of these women through a variety of voices and poetic strategies Based on interviews of 19th century frontier women conducted during the 1920 s and 30 s the voices and images of these powerful women speak Nowhere on these parchment leaves do I find myself my likeness my name not a whisper Cynthia not one breath of me Sculpted out of years of research and accompanied by archival photographs these poems imagine the memoirs of forgotten frontier women and children hunger what becomes of love When assaulted by daily acts of violence and untimely death what happens to trust Set in the lands of Northeast Brazil this is an account of the everyday experience of scarcity sickness and death that centres on the lives of the women and children of a hillside favela Bringing her readers to the impoverished slopes above the modern plantation town of Bom Jesus de Mata where she has worked on and off for 25 years Nancy Scheper Hughes follows three generations of shantytown women as they struggle to survive through hard work cunning and triage It is a story of class relations told at the most basic level of bodies emotions desires and needs Most disturbing and controversial is her finding that mother love as conventionally understood is something of a bourgeois myth a luxury for those who can reasonably expect as these women cannot that their infants will live When lives are dominated by hunger what becomes of love When assaulted by daily acts of violence and untimely death what happens to trust Set in the lands of Northeast Brazil this is an account of the everyday experience of scarcity sickness and death

Led by an Unseen Hand Marilyn Sommor,2017-11-09

Looking back on one's life can bring forth memories of regret as well as exultation The home and family is most generally a place of comfort and security however many can testify that it is often a place of trouble heartache and shame Missionary life as well can be both exhilarating and frightening with its many unforeseen experiences Learning a new language and culture may serve to deepen and enrich the life in so many ways but at the same time cause one to recognize the need for someone beyond oneself to provide some necessary help It is in reflecting on what life has handed us that we are grateful for the unseen hand which has upheld us and led us regardless of the situations we've known For my family and me there was never a dull moment
