Value Stream Design Klaus Erlach, 2012-09-05 Value stream design is increasingly asserting itself as the key approach for production optimization but there has never been a detailed and systematic presentation of the value stream method before a gap that has now been filled by this book. The author provides an easily comprehensible code of practice for the effective analysis of production processes product family oriented factory structuring and the target oriented development of an ideal future state of production. The book plausibly conveys ten design guidelines for production optimization with corresponding equations descriptive illustrations and industrial examples well proven in numerous industrial projects. It addresses the professional public practitioners wishing to avoid waste and systematically improve their factories value streams and students tomorrow's practitioners. In contrast to other publications this book complements the value stream analysis and its unique compact visualization of the entire production process by a detailed illustration of the information flow and a comprehensive discussion of the operator balance chart. The traditional concept of value stream design is significantly expanded with a view to its applicability in complex productions by way of methodological innovation and further development concerning campaign formation value stream management and technological process integration. The method is embedded in a comprehensive procedural approach for factory planning starting with the definition of the desired lean production goals.

Pre-Production Planning for Video, Film, and Multimedia Steve Cartwright, 2012-08-21 The key to a project's ultimate success is good planning. This unique new book shows how to prepare for the myriad of steps required to execute production and post production of a video film or multimedia project. Cartwright explains in detail how to save money and time in production and post production yet produce a quality program with high production values. The craft of production planning is explained through a comprehensive system. The production steps are all there enhanced with graphs of the production process production forms photos and a comprehensive list of production resources along with a chapter devoted to the use of computers for the production and post production process. The techniques of planning for success are easily applied to both traditional linear program development to interactive multimedia development for all types of programs including communications training marketing corporate news and teleconferencing. Pre Production Planning for Video Film and Multimedia also includes 30 planning production and post production forms that can be accessed on an accompanying complimentary disk for both IBM compatibles or Mac. Steve R. Cartwright is president of Cartwright Associates a training and communications company and co owner of the Motion Graphics Company a computer graphics and animation firm. A leading producer consultant and instructor Cartwright is author of Training with Video and Secrets of Successful Video Programs.
