Office Politics Blue And Red America Collide:

Collision 2012 Dan Balz,2014-08-26 From the bestselling author of The Battle for America 2008 and longtime Washington Post correspondent an inside view and analysis of the Obama Romney presidential race In 2008 a bright young candidate triumphed on a theme of change and hope Four years later an embattled President struggled against an apocalyptically divided and divisive Congress a war that won't end and an economy that casts a dark penumbra over every spark of good news His opponent a well heeled businessman who couldn't seem to stand on his own business record withstood unexpected and extreme opposition to capture the nomination of a party whose main platform and principles with which he was historically and fundamentally at odds The 2012 Election once predicted to be a boring run at a popular President took on a new urgency with the infamous 2010 midterm shellacking and equally infamous Citizen United ruling and delivered drama and tension as the Republicans tried to reconcile the factions at war within their party and Democrats faced the tsunami of super Pac money flooding local and regional elections As with his last book The Battle for America 2008 Washington Post correspondent Dan Balz uses a combination of superb sources and long deep reporting experience to take us both deep inside and far beyond Campaign HQs in Chicago and Boston He tracks the nuances of Beltway politics and the thinking behind the scenes to show how Obama regained his footing and to speculate about whether this election actually did anything to change the toxically poisonous atmosphere inside the Beltway the increasing hostility and disenchantment with politicians outside and the frightening effect of the torrent of money being poured out by special interest groups beholden to no voter or law Will there be anything in this election that will heal the political process in America Special highlights include two much talked about post election interviews with Romney and Christie which have been making headlines as well as a new afterword

Office Politics Anthony DiFalco,2004-09 Office Politics Blue and Red America Collide is a unique perspective on how Americans discuss politics This is a collection of email threads between four white collar businessmen debating social spending and foreign policy WMDs and Rush Limbaugh It's a partisan fight conducted through the simple rapid fire language of email You'll find someone here to cheer for no matter which side you're on and you won't stop laughing There is no moderator Nothing is politically correct Consider Jay on Taxes and I am sick to death of sanctimonious liberals like you telling me I can be a better human being if I vote for more and more money to go from my child's college fund to pay for some other moron's brat to get free lunches what is your response you pile of crap Or Anthony on the EITC That's a real good point Ryan I think my dog made that same point yesterday all over a fire hydrant Office Politics is how real men talk about the issues when Blue and Red America collide

Personnel Literature United States. Office of Personnel Management. Library,1986 Irreconcilable Differences David R. Cole,2021-05-20 Irreconcilable Differences is an attempt to peer into the future in the light of recent and ongoing events Author David Cole proposes that Americans may be living through the beginning of the devolution of the United States of America a development that may unfold after our lifetimes

although it could happen sooner Cole surveys examples of devolutionary political developments around the world in recent decades He offers a running commentary on recent polemics as commentators in the press consider the evidence of American political decline and decay He speculates as to exactly what form a devolved United States might take The conjecture is that a point could be reached at which Americans conclude that an amicable breakup is to be preferred on the whole to an attempt to continue to live under the same tent Is contemporary America an example of the Aristotelian phenomenon of coming into being and passing away    Collision and Collusion Katja Helma May,1994    Merchant Vessels of the United States (including Yachts and Government) United States.
