Of God and Maxim Guns Geoffrey Johnston, 2006-01-01 The founding of the Presbyterian Church of Nigeria arose out of the enthusiasm of the young church in Jamaica The first mission party arrived in Calabar in 1846 and settled into a routine of preaching teaching campaigning for social reform ministerial training and practising medicine With the coming of the British Empire after 1890 a new generation of missionaries armed with a kind of colonial mentality appeared thirty years later there was a network of churches and schools and the missionaries who had begun as pastors of congregations had become administrators of districts By the 1930s the church had developed a large corps of trained teachers and a smaller corps of trained ministers men and women who were beginning to assert their independence By 1950 the nationalist period had begun a period marked by rapid growth of primary and secondary schools and teacher training colleges and most importantly by a shift in power from the Mission Council to the Synod which represented the church as a whole By 1960 the church was back where it had started with its affairs regulated by a court in which missionaries and natives sat and argued as equals A former president of the American Historical Association observed more than fifteen years ago that mission history is a great and underused research laboratory for the comparative observation of cultural stimulus and response in both directions In

God and Maxim Guns Geoffrey Johnston makes a substantial contribution to the field of mission history The Huguenots and French Opinion, 1685-1787 Geoffrey Adams, 1991-12-23 The decision of Louis XIV to revoke the Edict of Nantes and thus liquidate French Calvinism was well received in the intellectual community which was deeply prejudiced against the Huguenots This antipathy would gradually disappear After the death of the Sun King a more sympathetic view of the Protestant minority was presented to French readers by leading thinkers such as Montesquieu the abb Pr vost and Voltaire By the middle years of the eighteenth century liberal clerics lawyers and government ministers joined Encyclopedists in urging the emancipation of the Reformed who were seen to be loyal peaceable and productive Then in 1787 thanks to intensive lobbying by a group which included Malesherbes Lafayette and the future revolutionary Rabaut Saint tienne the government of Louis XVI issued an edict of toleration which granted the Huguenots a modest bill of civil and religious rights Adams illuminating work treats a major chapter in the history of toleration it explores in depth a fascinating shift in mentalit s and it offers a new focus on the process of reform from above in pre Revolutionary France The Rhetoric of the Babylonian Talmud, Its Social Meaning and Context Jack N. Lightstone, 2006-01-01 Virtually from its redaction about the sixth century A D the Babylonian Talmud became the rabbinic document par excellence Through its lens almost all previous canonical rabbinic tradition was refracted Study and mastery of the Talmud marked one as a rabbi a master This book examines the character use and social meaning of the formalized rhetoric which pervades the Babylonian Talmud It explores first how the editors of the Talmud employ a consistent and highly laconic code of formalized linguistic terms and literary patterns to create the Talmud s renowned dialectical analytic essays Second the work considers the social meanings implicitly communicated by the use of this rhetoric which not only provided an authoritative model for modes of thought and for treatment of earlier authoritative Judaic tradition but also reflected reinforced or helped engender new social definitions. Through comparison of the Talmud's rhetoric with that of other earlier rabbinic documents and by placing the editing of the Talmud against the backdrop of the social and political situation of Rabbinism in the Late Persian Empire the book relates the Talmud's creation and promulgation to a major shift in Rabbinism's understanding of the social role rabbi and to the emergence and ascendancy of the talmudic academy the Yeshiva as the primary institution of Rabbinism toward the end of Late Antiquity. In its agenda and methodological and theoretical perspectives The Rhetoric of the Babylonian Talmud brings together the insights and tools of historical literary and rhetorical analysis of the New Testament and of early rabbinic literature on the one hand and the sociological and anthropological study of religion on the other.

Women in God's Army Andrew Mark Eason, 2009-10-22 The early Salvation Army professed its commitment to sexual equality in ministry and leadership. In fact its founding constitution proclaimed women had the right to preach and hold any office in the organization. But did they? Women in God's Army is the first study of its kind devoted to the critical analysis of this central claim. It traces the extent to which this egalitarian ideal was realized in the private and public lives of first and second generation female Salvationists in Britain and argues that the Salvation Army was found wanting in its overall commitment to women's equality with men. Bold pronouncements were not matched by actual practice in the home or in public ministry. Andrew Mark Eason traces the nature of these discrepancies as well as the Victorian and evangelical factors that lay behind them. He demonstrates how Salvationists often assigned roles and responsibilities on the basis of gender rather than equality and the ways in which these discriminatory practices were supported by a male defined theology and authority. He views this story from a number of angles including historical gender and feminist theology ensuring it will be of interest to a wide spectrum of readers. Salvationists themselves will appreciate the light it sheds on recent debates. Ultimately however anyone who wants to learn more about the human struggle for equality will find this book enlightening.

Religion in History / La religion dans l'histoire Michel Despland, Gérard Vallée, 1992-03-03 The history of the concept of religion in Western tradition has intrigued scholars for years. This important collection of eighteen essays brings further light to the ongoing debate. Three of the invited participants W. C. Smith, M. Despland and E. Feil have each previously written impressive books treating this subject. The last two acknowledged the impact and continuing influence of Smith's work. The Meaning and End of Religion. An introduction and a recapitulation of Smith's contribution as a scholar set the stage for a retrospective look at the published literature. Contributors then examine the transformation of words: the classical religio to the modern religion; particularities of religion in nineteenth century France; Troeltsch's concept of religion; the study of religion from an Asian point of view; and the categorization of World Religions. The concluding essays elaborate contemporary anthropological, cross-disciplinary, semiological, deconstructive and psychoanalytical methodological approaches to the concept and study of religion. Exploring critically different aspects of the concept and study of religion these provocative essays typically reflect the methodological pluralism currently existing in the field of Religious Studies Of interest to scholars and students alike this collection also contains a complete bibliography of W C Smith s publications Sharing without Reckoning Millard Schumaker,2006-01-01

Sharing without Reckoning is the first full scale treatment of the ancient and persistent distinction between perfect and imperfect rights and duties It examines the use of the distinction in jurisprudential philosophical and religious material from Classical times until the present proposes a connection between imperfect right and the norms of reciprocity as that complex set of ideas has been developed in anthropology and sociology and argues that contemporary understanding of the nature of morality and of moral reasoning would be well served by the reintroduction of this traditional doctrine This enlightening study includes a notable chapter reassessing the role of imperfect obligation in the thought of Immanuel Kant portraying a kinder and gentler Kant Concluding by elaborating ways in which concepts such as love justice and the boundary between law and morality might be reconstructed taking the fact of imperfect right seriously this work will serve as a key reference for scholars interested in the complex question of perfect and imperfect rights and duties Religious Studies in Ontario

Harold Remus,William Closson James,Daniel Fraikin,1992-03-11 Most Ontario universities were established by Christian denominations a Christian ethos was assumed and pervasive and students were required to take courses designed to teach and inculcate religion This insightful and comprehensive study demonstrates how as Ontario society became secularized and pluralistic so too did universities Today religion is again studies in university classrooms but as religious studies a relatively new field that reflects the religiously pluralistic nature of Ontario and the world wide explosion of knowledge This authoritative volume will be of interest to students of religion in and outside academic circles to administrators of academic institutions and granting agencies and to persons wanting to know more about the social and cultural changes that have transformed Ontario and Canadian society Canadiana ,1989 Annual Report Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada,1988 The Social Setting of the Ministry as Reflected in the Writings of Hermas, Clement and Ignatius Harry O. Maier,1991 Religious Rivalries and the Struggle for Success in Sardis and Smyrna Richard S. Ascough,Canadian Corporation for Studies in Religion,2005-04-19 This volume one in a series of books examining religious rivalries focuses in detail on the religious dimension of life in two particular Roman cities Sardis and Smyrna The essays explore the relationships and rivalries among Jews Christians and various Greco Roman religious groups from the second century bce to the fourth century ce The thirteen contributors including seasoned scholars and promising newcomers bring fresh perspectives on religious life in antiquity They draw upon a wide range of archaeological epigraphic and literary data to investigate the complex web of relationships that existed among the religious groups of these two cities from coexistence and cooperation to competition and conflict To the extent that the essays investigate how religious groups are shaped by their urban settings the book also offers insights into the material urban realities of the Roman Empire

Investigating two cities together in one volume highlights similarities and differences in the interaction of religious groups in each location The specific focus on Sardis and Smyrna is broadened through an investigation of methodological issues involved in the study of the interaction of urban based religious groups in antiquity The volume will be of particular interest to scholars and advanced students in Biblical Studies Classical Studies and Archaeology Missiology ,1990 An international review Religious Rivalries and the Struggle for Success in Caesarea Maritima Canadian Corporation for Studies in Religion,2000-05-11 Contains 16 contributions representing work drawn from a multi year seminar conducted through the Canadian Society of Biblical Studies North American and European contributors primarily associated with religiously affiliated universities address literary inscriptional and archaeological evidence on Pagans Samaritans Jews and Christians including how each group interacted with the religious other as well as studies exploring the Caesarea centurion Cornelius and Roman army religion pagan Jewish revelries in Caesarea and Alexandria and other topics Quill & Quire ,1988 Joint Acquisitions List of Africana ,1988 Paperbound Books in Print ,1992 Canadian Books in Print ,1997 Bibliographic Guide to Black Studies Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture,1989 Fachkatalog Afrika Irmtraud Dietlinde Wolcke-Renk,1995 Index to Book Reviews in Religion ,1992
