Religion, Decolonization, and the Planetary Community Whitney A. Bauman,Samsul Maarif,Jonathan Davis Smith,2025-12-31 In light of the two great phenomena that define the era of the Anthropocene globalization and climate change what does it mean to be a human subject or person in the world today One response to these phenomena in the world has been some sort of return to nationalism usually on the political right or localism bioregionalism usually on the political left A second response has been a continuation of the spread of neo liberal capitalism without any apparent regard for the problems it is causing on the political right or with social and environmental protections tagged on on the political left This volume provides what is needed new and multiple stories and ideas about the many different ways of being human in the world and what this might mean for the planetary future The volume brings together 17 scholars 14 Indonesians and three Global North scholars working from or deeply influenced by the Indonesian archipelago Each contributor examines the interconnected themes of religion decolonization and the planetary from their distinctive disciplinary and geographic locations This volume is divided into four parts each with four chapters that share a thematic focus Thinking about Decolonization and the Planetary provides the philosophical and theoretical groundwork for decolonizing religion and planetary thinking from an Indonesian context Decolonizing Human Nature Relations presents case studies that demonstrate how some Indigenous Peoples and local communities live in subjective relationships with nature opening up new possibilities for caring for and with the natural environment Decolonizing Religion Nature and Gender Studies presents case studies of religious gender and ecological binaries that both disadvantage some groups and provide spaces for hybridity resistance and embodied practices of human nature relations by women LGBTQ and other minoritized communities Decolonizing Legal and Rights Frameworks for Indigenous Peoples offers analyses of the top down frameworks of law and human rights that perpetuate post colonial marginalization and erasure of Indigenous Peoples and local communities and they propose ways of decolonizing these frameworks to better respect and integrate lived religion for a better planetary future This cutting edge volume will be of interest to those within religion and critical theories religion and Southeast Asia religion and ecology and religion and nature In addition it would be a valuable read for anyone who studies the broader humanities within the context of Indonesia or environmental humanities The Enduring Significance of Parmenides Raymond Tallis,2007-01-01 An important new reading of the importance of Parmenides widely regarded as the most influential of the Presocratic philosophers To Die of Not Writing Pablo Irizar,Donald Boyce,Martin Koci,2025-08-12 This collection by academics from across the world celebrates the contributions of Emmanuel Falque a leading and influential voice in contemporary French phenomenology and beyond to the philosophy of religion Doing Philosophy of Religion with Emmanuel Falque wrestles with central philosophical and theological questions related to death trauma transformation revelation corporeality and dwelling while insisting on the essential connection between concept and action reflection and life The Solipsistic Novels of Samuel Beckett Susan Schurman,1987 The Conservator,1896
