Proceeding Temu Ilmiah I APIO Asosiasi Psikologi Industri & Organisasi. Temu Ilmiah, 2002 Psychological approach in human resources development to increase the competitiveness of organizations in Indonesia Artificial Metalloproteins, 2025-12-01 In recent decades artificial metalloproteins ArMs have emerged as powerful vehicles with which to control implement and leverage the unique reactivity and spectroscopic properties of their bound metal ions This volume provides a practical guide to the latest ArM research and is organized in a hierarchical fashion reflecting the primary secondary tertiary and quaternary elements of protein structure The first two sections provide a wide breadth of strategies for incorporating the primary coordination elements required for metal binding which are further divided into the installation of heme and non heme metallocofactor sites The third section relates to the installation and tuning of secondary coordination sphere effects around the metal center to modulation of properties therein Finally the fourth section relates tertiary and quaternary protein design elements to resultant changes in properties of the bound metallocofactors Ultimately the design preparation and characterization of ArMs at all of these hierarchical levels are needed to recapitulate the structures and functions of natural metalloproteins By providing a detailed roadmap for achieving each of these elements this volume aims to disseminate the cumulative knowledge developed by researchers around the world such that the next generation of ArM researchers can build from it and ultimately beyond A wide variety of strategies for the installation of nonnative metal binding sites are described Protein engineering approaches range from modulating secondary coordination sphere effects around the metal ion to implementation of peptide dynamical motions for the regulation of these effects Provides a how to guide for the interdisciplinary techniques needed in the construction and characterization of diverse ArM systems Improving Approaches for Effective Teaching and Learning Kay Muir-Leresche, 2006 WHO guidance on research methods for health emergency and disaster risk management, revised 2022 World Health Organization, 2022-10-13 The WHO website has an introductory description for the Guidance It states that the WHO Guidance on Research Methods for Health Emergency and Disaster Risk Management Health EDRM was developed to address the need to promote high quality research methods to those who commission and conduct research on Health EDRM The intended audience includes decision makers practitioners and community actors who need for evidence based policy and practice to implement the Health EDRM Framework Sendai Framework on Disaster Risk Reduction 2015 2030 the International Health Regulations 2005 the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and other relevant global regional and national frameworks Chapters have been written by more than 100 international authors with practical experience and expertise in a wide range of areas including research practice and policy making The unique collection of chapters provides straightforward and practical guidance on how to plan conduct and report a wide variety of studies that can answer quantitative and qualitative questions in different emergency settings Case studies of direct relevance to Health EDRM provide real life examples of research to illustrate the methods and their impact The book was revised in 2022 with an additional chapter on how to use this book in the context of COVID 19 pandemic      Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1987 Lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the NASA Scientific and Technical Information Database      Library Literature H.W.
