Sustainable Food Networks: Chains of Values and Food Transitions Carolina Yacamán-Ochoa, José Luis Sánchez-Hernández , Javier Sanz-Cañada, 2025-06-12 Sustainable Food Networks SFNs are emerging as pivotal value chains for agroecological and food transitions in both urban and rural territories These networks aim to create a healthy fair localized and inclusive food supply model standing in contrast to the dominant corporate food system characterized by long haul complex and fragile supply chains Despite their potential SFNs such as community supported agriculture farmers markets and urban agriculture have not been thoroughly examined through the lens of economic geography and related interdisciplinary perspectives The current globalized food system is fraught with economic social and environmental issues including the marginalization of family farming environmental degradation and the loss of local knowledge and biodiversity SFNs offer a critical alternative by emphasizing small batch production environmental sustainability and social equity yet there remains a significant gap in understanding their full impact and potential This research topic aims to collate comprehensive research on Sustainable Food Networks SFNs with specific objectives identifying various SFN initiatives across different territories evaluating their spatial dimensions in global contexts and assessing policies that can enhance the social economic and environmental sustainability of food value chains Key questions include how alternative values are propagated within SFNs the critical spatial nodes for these values the role of urban and peri urban agriculture and the interplay between territorial conditions and SFN performance Additionally the research seeks to understand how SFNs compete with hegemonic value chains and the potential role of public policy in strengthening these networks To gather further insights into the complexities and potentials of SFNs we welcome articles addressing but not limited to the following themes The propagation and transfer of alternative values within SFNs Identification of critical spatial nodes for the reproduction of these values Roles of urban and peri urban agriculture in SFNs Relationships between territorial conditions governance and SFN performance Strategies employed by SFNs to tackle competition from corporate value chains The impact of SFNs on the surge of local organic and healthy food outlets The role of public policy in supporting and strengthening SFNs

The Organic Way, 1999 Chemical News and Journal of Industrial Science, 1877 Journal of the Chemical Society Chemical Society (Great Britain), 1884 Titles of chemical papers in British and foreign journals included in Quarterly journal v 1 12 Food Security in Australia Quentin Farmar-Bowers, Vaughan Higgins, Joanne Millar, 2012-10-28 This book considers the ability and capacity of the food supply system in Australia to provide food security for the ever increasing domestic and international population in the face of growing challenges in production resource supply and failures within the food system itself Although Australia is a net food exporting country domestic food insecurity exists and will increase as food prices rise in the coming decades An overview of the food supply system highlights the main challenges that are determining the future Many of these challenges can be resolved by the Australian government but others are in the hands of global governance to which Australia can only adapt This book sheds light on the challenges and discusses the prospects for developing more sustainable and resilient future food systems in Australia In addition it covers food security and sovereignty issues under the heading of food equity and access food production policy and trade and impacts of land use planning on agriculture The unique features of the book include the following Most literature on food security pertains to developing countries By way of contrast this book explores food security in a developed nation Australia that seemingly should not have food security issues The topics covered in the book are relevant to other developed nations with growing populations and resource management challenges The book chapters are written by specialists to paint a comprehensive picture of the political social economic and environmental issues that give rise to food insecurity and the challenges these issues present to the security of the food system in coming decades The overall organization of the book uses a theoretically informed and multi disciplinary approach This enables a critical and in depth analysis of food security by outlining the key challenges as well as prospects for the development of more sustainable and resilient agri food systems The three principal topics in the book are dealt with by a multi disciplinary team of authors in a way that teases out diverse points of view illustrating the complexity of food security Author disciplines include health and nutrition agriculture ethics social science law and practitioners managing food aid programs The book shows how food security relates to many technical social and moral issues in society and how it is possible to develop successful programs to improve food security The Chemical
