events to the cognitive and organizational complexity of air traffic control activity to the operational specificities associated with maintaining and increasing effectiveness efficiency reliability and safety in the management of air traffic The identification of improvement criteria for the initial selection and training both at the start and then ongoing of staff dedicated to air traffic control The complexity of the work of ATCOs in areas different from those of an academic professional kind in order to promote an informed exchange of expertise outside the world of the operators in the sector The research was promoted by four bodies the Societ Nazionale Assistenza al Volo ENAV S p a the Associazione Nazionale Assistenti e Controllori Navigazione Aerea ANACNA the Confederazione Italiana Sindacati dei Lavoratori FIT CISL and the Unione Italiana Controllo e Assistenza al Volo UNICA The research was carried out by a team from the Dipartimento di Sociologia e Ricerca Sociale dell Universit of Milano Bicocca composed of Maurizio Catino director of the research project Alessia Bianco Dolino Diego Coletto and Chiara Locatelli The work presents some extremely innovative features in the field of studies available today regarding the profession of air traffic controller and constitutes the first research experience in this sector at an Italian level as well as being one of first at an international level In particular these distinctive features involve on the one hand the research methodology used and on the other hand the theoretical frame of reference chosen for the analysis As far as research methodology is concerned the techniques of organizational ethnography have been employed This involved a long period of observation in the field of work itself 448 hours of observation over the course of a year making it possible to directly observe the work practices adopted by front line operators the main characteristics of the work and the specific operational needs of the profession Specifically observations were carried out in four operating locations the Area Control Centres ACCs in Rome and Milan and the Control Towers TWRs at Malpensa and Fiumicino airports

Scapegoating Maurizio Catino, 2023-06-15 Reveals the mechanisms involved in the creation of scapegoats in organizations Kobe University Law Review ,2004 Paper ,2000 The Irrational Organization Nils Brunsson, 1985 The book deals with the ways in which organizations can achieve co ordinated action when it is most difficult to do so that is when it is a question of major changes in relation to the kind of action the organization is used to Reason's Neglect Barbara Townley, 2008-07-24 Reason s Neglect does three things First it argues that rationality is a leitmotif of organization studies one that has often been neglected Second it deploys Foucault s work to uncover neglected approaches to understanding rationality In doing this it allows for a revised exploration of key subjects in organization studies bureaucracy technology culture practice etc and organization theory itself Finally the book presents an example of new rational management techniques being introduced in an organization and by allowing individuals to speak for themselves examines how they respond to these innovations and how they make sense of them BOOK JACKET Beyond Rationality in Organization and Management Robert McMurray, Alison Pullen, 2019-05-29 Spanning the 20th and 21st centuries the writers considered in this first book of the Routledge Focus on Women Writers in Organization Studies series make an important contribution to how we think about rationality in managing leading and working It provides a space in which to think differently about rationality challenging dominant masculine logics while positioning relations between people centre stage A critical and intellectually provocative text the book provides a nuanced and practical account of rationality in organizational contexts making it clear that women have and continue to write groundbreaking work on the subject women like Lillian Moller Gilbreth who was at the forefront of developments in scientific management and Frances Perkins who was the first female US cabinet secretary Both are important not only for what they achieved but also as illustrations of the ways in which women have been written out of the accounts of managing and management thought This matters not only because credit is denied to those who deserve it but also because it impoverishes our understanding of complex organisational phenomenon Where so much extant writing on managing and organizing is preoccupied with abstract notions of structure strategy metaphor and machines the writers considered here explain why effective working and managing is primarily about seeing and working with people Writers such as Arlie Hochschild Mary Parker Follett and Heather H pfl remind us that rationality cannot be decoupled from emotion or where a system is to be rationalised then it should start with and enhance the lives of people be designed with people at the centre In this sense the book is not arguing for a wholesale rejection of rationality Rather authors call on readers to move beyond a preoccupation with rationality for its own sake seeing it instead as a useful and highly contestable aspect of organizational life Each woman writer is introduced and analysed by an expert in their field Further reading and accessible resources are also identified for those interested in knowing more This book will be relevant to students researchers and practitioners with an interest in business and management organizational studies critical management studies gender studies and sociology Like all the books in this series it will also be of interest to anyone who wants to see think and act differently

Rational Choice Theory and Organizational Theory Mary Zey,1998 This book addresses a question central to organizational analysis Given the well established differences between rational choice and organizational theories what are the limits of fruitful dialogue and collaboration between the two fields Rational Choice Theory and Organizational Theory is written in response to the neoclassical economic rational choice theories and organizational economic theories which have emerged in the past decade Rational choice theory exemplifies a highly abstract deductive approach characterized by the development of models based on deliberately rigidly simplified assumptions In contrast Mary Zey argues that the empirical validity of the structure of organizations
