The Politics of Bad Options Stefanie Walter, Ari Ray, Nils Redeker, 2020-11-12 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence. It is free to read at Oxford Academic and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations. Why was the Eurozone crisis so difficult to resolve? Why was it resolved in a manner in which some countries bore a much larger share of the pain than other countries? Why did no country leave the Eurozone rather than implement unprecedented austerity? Who supported and opposed the different policy options in the crisis domestically and how did the distributive struggles among these groups shape crisis politics? Building on macro level statistical data original survey data from interest groups and qualitative comparative case studies this book argues and shows that the answers to these questions revolve around distributive struggles about how the costs of the Eurozone crisis should be divided among countries and within countries among different socioeconomic groups Together with divergent but strongly held ideas about the right way to conduct economic policy and asymmetries in the distribution of power among actors severe distributive concerns of important actors lie at the root of the difficulties of resolving the Eurozone crisis as well as the difficulties to substantially reform EMU The book provides new insights into the politics of the Eurozone crisis by emphasizing three perspectives that have received scant attention in existing research a comparative perspective on the Eurozone crisis by systematically comparing it to previous financial crises an analysis of the whole range of policy options including the ones not chosen and a unified framework that examines crisis politics not just in deficit debtor but also in surplus creditor countries

The Challenge of European Political Will Rachel Ellehuus,Seth G. Jones,2022-09-02 In this follow on report to Europe's High End Military Challenges The Future of European Capabilities and Missions the CSIS Europe Russia and Eurasia Program and International Security Program examine the other side of the coin of European military effectiveness the political will of European countries to conduct military missions and operations The report identifies the endogenous and exogenous factors constraining or increasing political will and maps them onto six country case studies Four prototypes of political will emerged from the analysis global partners international activists constrained partners and minimalists The report then assesses the political will of European allies and partners to conduct fifteen types of military missions and operations worldwide from peacekeeping to large scale combat It concludes with a summary of key findings First it finds that internal and external factors such as strategic culture and alliance dependence respectively will continue to constrain European political will in many cases even after the Russian invasion of Ukraine Second European states are more likely to have the political will to engage in military missions at the lower end of the conflict spectrum such as maritime patrol missions and less likely at the higher ends of the spectrum except in cases of significant collective or national defense

Framing Civic Engagement, Political Participation and Active Citizenship in Europe Cristiano Bee,Roberta Guerrina,2017-12-22 This book evaluates the role that civic engagement political participation and active citizenship can play in promoting the establishment of a European polity The chapters included here examine how the practice of active citizenship is managed and constructed in the context of a European drive to increase civic engagement and political participation in three member states Portugal Italy and the UK and one accession country Turkey Looking at both processes and policies promoting active citizenship at the European and national levels this book uncovers current discourses as well as political priorities and values that surround the activities of non governmental organizations NGOs Of particular interest are debates about the nature and level of civic and political participation and engagement of marginal groups women youths migrants and minorities as they are particularly vulnerable to social exclusion The book focuses on the interaction between institutions and civil society actors addressing a number of questions related to their reciprocal role in influencing shaping criticising or disregarding certain political priorities This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Civil Society

Coping with Migrants and Refugees Tiziana Caponio,Irene Ponzo,2022-03-08 This book provides a comparative overview of asylum seekers reception throughout Europe by adopting a theoretical framework based on an analytical approach to the notion of multilevel governance MLG It challenges the tendency of the MLG literature to overlook political controversies and conflicts and questions the assumption that it represents the best policymaking arrangement for promoting policy convergence In doing so it explores the functioning of the reception component of the Common European Asylum System in centralised states and federal regional states and analyses its implementation at both national and local levels The book reveals the heterogeneous development of reception policies not only across Member States but also within each country where solutions adopted at the local level generally diverge substantially Furthermore the overall centralisation of policy making on reception regardless the institutional structure seems to leave little room for MLG arrangements tailored to specific localities and triggers tensions between central governments and local authorities This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of migration and asylum studies immigration multilevel global governance and more broadly to comparative politics European studies politics and public policy Chapter 3 Chapter 5 Chapter 6 Chapter 9 and Chapter 10 of this book is available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the individual product page at www.routledge.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4 0 license

Polish EU Accession in Comparative Perspective Piotr Jaworski,Tomasz Mickiewicz,2006 Europeanizing Civil Society Rosa Sanchez Salgado,2014-11-04 The European Union clearly matters for Civil Society Organizations CSOs EU officials and European political entrepreneurs has been crucial in the promotion of funding and access opportunities but they have been proven to have little capacity to use CSOs for their own purposes

Small States and EU Governance Simone Bunse,2009-03-26 The rotating Council presidency took the centre stage in the EU s recent institutional reform debates disclosing a deep divide between the big and small Member States While the former sought its abolition the latter fiercely defended it This divide resurfaced in the 2008 referendum on the Lisbon Treaty The Irish rejected the treaty in part due to their concerns over the new institutional arrangements which contain the most fundamental reform of the Council presidency to date and over the balance between small and big Member States This book investigates the tension between big and small states in the EU by taking a closer look at an institution that had long been ignored by EU scholars the Council presidency The literature has traditionally seen the presidency as a neutral administrative task that is particularly irksome for the small This gives rise to two inter linked questions a why has the presidency reform been so contentious and b why are especially the small states such adamant supporters of the rotating office Simon Bunse seeks answers to this puzzle by examining the political objectives the presidency serves and presenting a systematic and comparative assessment of its nature and influence in internal market and foreign policy issues Her book is one of the most in depth accounts of this institution to date how to exert leadership in the EU and of the factors that condition a presidency s success Back cover The European Union and the International Forest Negotiations Gunilla Reischl,2009
