Research Methods for Classroom Discourse Jenni Ingram, Victoria Elliott, 2019-10-17 Language both spoken and written is key to understanding learning processes in the classroom Research Methods for Classroom Discourse is for those who want to investigate spoken interaction or other discourse in the classroom It lays out clearly the different approaches which are possible identifying the key principles of each It addresses the differences between them and the consequences these differences might have for teachers and researchers Each approach is outlined in terms of practical methods advice reasons for use and case studies in which the approach has been used in classroom discourse Common approaches such as conversation analysis positioning theory and critical discourse analysis are included alongside more specialised approaches such as discursive psychology and corpus linguistics The context of classroom research is used to frame all discussions with connections to other uses and applications where it can enhance the research being undertaken The authors demonstrate the relationship between these different theoretical approaches through considering particular applications to common topics within classroom research such as multilingual learners knowledge knowing and identity The authors assume no prior knowledge of technical terms and a glossary of key term terms is included Practical issues such as ethics data collection and transcription are an integral part of the discussion throughout providing students with all the knowledge needed to embark upon a successful research project in this area Using Discussion to Promote Reading Comprehension Donna E. Alvermann, Deborah R. Dillon, David G.

O'Brien, 1987 Drawing from observations of discussion in 24 different classrooms this book will provide preservice and inservice teachers at the middle and school levels with the motivation and knowledge to use discussion to foster student comprehension of content area text assignments The first chapter examines the distinctions between discussion and recitation and redefines major issues related to content area discussion in light of recent research and school reform reports The second chapter establishes a basis for the premise that discussion is important to the development of reading comprehension illustrating those skills that enrich or refine students understanding of text The third chapter uses portions of transcripts from videotaped content class discussions to illustrate how classroom context influences discussion practices Alternatives to teacher dominated discussions are described and guidelines are provided for establishing the rights and responsibilities of critical readers The fourth chapter demonstrates how to plan for classroom discussion of assigned material describing five aspects of the planning process The fifth chapter presents discussion strategies that help students master the content examine more than one side of the issue and evaluate alternative solutions to a text based problem while the sixth chapter analyzes one content area teacher s implementation of a preplanned discussion Finally the seventh chapter describes two procedures for informally evaluating classroom discussion used to promote reading comprehension References follow each chapter HTH Personalized Deeper Learning James A.
