Dear Sister Nancy

I am writing this letter as a request for reference from Ms. Natalie Swan for the position of a registered Sr.Nurse at your esteemed hospital. Natalie worked under me for a period of eight years rising through the ranks and holding the position of Sr.Nurse- Women and Childcare, before she left the hospital.

Natalie has several merits that will add to the hospital's existing reputation. She is a skilled nurse, is consistent in her performance, is enthusiastic, efficient and responsible and in general cares for others. She had distinguished herself for providing safe and hygienic nursing to all our patients and has only three incidents reported against her in her eight year tenure. She has moreover always managed to maintain a professional relationship with all her colleagues and has a spot and span attendance record, having won rewards in two years for her attendance.

If her contribution in her last job can be considered as evidence, then I am sure that she will outshine herself at St.Loise given the opportunity she will find there that was absent here.

Handling the Sick Tom Craig Olson, Eileen Walsh, 2004 Handling the Sick is the story of 838 women who entered St Luke's Hospital Training School for Nurses St Paul Minnesota from 1892-1937 Their story addresses a fundamental question about nursing that has yet to be answered is nursing a craft or a profession It also addresses the colliding visions of nursing factions that for more than a century have disagreed on the inherent traits and formal preparation a nurse has needed The women of St Luke's were engaged in the most practical of all occupations open to women a rare one in which their strength experience and skill were prized above all else They firmly believed that the key to success in nursing was apprenticeship training Apprenticeship not schooling was the cornerstone on which all else rested This study unites the opposing visions of those who led nursing toward professional status and those who saw it as a craft Physicality strength of will an abiding emphasis on practicality and a hierarchy based on a deep pride in craft skills have been essential elements of nursing Nursing can look to its complex history to develop an integrated model of nursing one drawing on both academic training and the immediate realities involved in handling the sick for a job Cases in Nursing Management Joan M. Ganong, Warren L. Ganong, 1979 Primary Care Christopher Aquirre, 2023-06-05 A nursing reference letter is a type of composed correspondence that affirms a medical caretaker's abilities, capabilities, demeanor, and experience. This letter is normally composed by a previous manager, partner, or instructor. It shows that the nursing candidate is excellent to work with and did a good job. In addition, it informs the person receiving the letter of the reasons why they ought to hire the candidate and provides examples of how they contributed to the success of previous positions. A nurse reference letter may be required for admission to a master's program if you want to continue your education. Usually, this kind of letter should be written by a former teacher. However, you can get a reference from any coworker or employee. These kinds of letters will zero in on favoring the medical attendant's instructive foundation and utilization of basic abilities acquired in their undergrad program Nursing Reference for Computer Literature Dorothy B. Pocklington, Linda Guttman, 1984 285 entries intended as comprehensive coverage of literature on computer technology as it relates to nursing. Includes journal articles, books, conference proceedings, and a newsletter, all derived from nursing sources. Computer journal sources not covered because of expediency. Presents historical and current references. Each entry gives bibliographical information and annotation. Miscellaneous appendixes. Author indexes covering separate chapters The Journal of Nursing Education, 1995
