Greenshaw,2016-05-18 Affective brain circuits underpin our moods and emotions Appetitive and aversive stimuli from our exteroceptive and interoceptive worlds play a key role in the activity of these circuits but we still do not know precisely how to characterize these so called reward related and aversion related systems Moreover we do we yet understand how they interact anatomically or functionally The aim of the current project was to gather some translational evidence to help clarify the role of such circuits A multi dimensional problem in its own right the book contains 14 works from authors exploring these questions at many levels from the cellular to the cognitive behavioural and from both experimental and conceptual viewpoints The editorial which introduces the book provides brief summaries of each perspective Hayes Northoff Greenshaw 2015 While questions of how to accurately define affect and emotion related concepts at the psychological level are far from answered here we have attempted to provide some insight into the brain based underpinnings of such processes The near future will undoubtedly involve making new inroads and will require the joint efforts of behavioural brain based and philosophical perspectives to do so Neuromorphic Engineering Systems and Applications André van Schaik,Tobi

Delbruck,Jennifer Hasler,2015-07-05 Neuromorphic engineering has just reached its 25th year as a discipline In the first two decades neuromorphic engineers focused on building models of sensors such as silicon cochleas and retinas and building blocks such as silicon neurons and synapses These designs have honed our skills in implementing sensors and neural networks in VLSI using analog and mixed mode circuits Over the last decade the address event representation has been used to interface devices and computers from different designers and even different groups This facility has been essential for our ability to combine sensors neural networks and actuators into neuromorphic systems More recently several big projects have emerged to build very large scale neuromorphic systems The Telluride Neuromorphic Engineering Workshop since 1994 and the CapoCaccia Cognitive Neuromorphic Engineering Workshop since 2009 have been instrumental not only in creating a strongly connected research community but also in introducing different groups to each other s hardware Many neuromorphic systems are first created at one of these workshops With this special research topic we showcase the state of the art in neuromorphic systems "Code of Massachusetts regulations, 2014" ,2014 Archival snapshot of entire
