Perspectives on Literature and Translation Brian Nelson, Brigid Maher, 2013-10-15 This volume explores the relationship between literature and translation from three perspectives the creative dimensions of the translation process the way texts circulate between languages and the way texts are received in translation by new audiences The distinctiveness of the volume lies in the fact that it considers these fundamental aspects of literary translation together and in terms of their interconnections Contributors examine a wide variety of texts including world classics poetry genre fiction transnational literature and life writing from around the world Both theoretical and empirical issues are covered with some contributors approaching the topic as practitioners of literary translation and others writing from within the academy Language in Literature Jonathan Locke Hart, 2024-10-15 Language in Literature examines the overlap and blurring boundaries of English comparative and world poetry and literature Questions of language literature translation and creative writing are addressed as befitting an author who is a poet literary scholar and historian The book begins with metaphor which Aristotle thought in Poetics was the key gift of the poet and discusses it in theory and practice it moves from the identity of metaphor to identity in translation and culture it examines poetry in a comparative and world context it looks at image and text it explores literature and culture in the Cold War it explores the role of the poet and scholar in translating poetry East and West it places creative writing in theory and practice in context East and West it concludes by summing up and suggesting implications of creation in language translating and interpreting and its expression in literature especially in poetry

Reframing Translators, Translators as Reframers Dominique Faria, Marta Pacheco Pinto, Joana Moura, 2022-07-29 This collection explores the notion of reframing as a framework for better understanding the multi agent and multi level nature of the translation process generating new conversations in current debates on translational agency authority and power The volume puts forward reframing as an alternative metaphor to traditional conceptualizations and descriptions of translation which often position the process in such terms as transformation reproduction transposition and transfer Chapters in the book reflect on the translator figure as a central agent in actively moving a translated text to a new context and the translation process as shaped by different forces and subjectivities when translational agency comes into play The book brings together cross disciplinary perspectives for viewing translation through the lens of agents drawing on a wide range of examples across geographic settings historical eras and language pairs The volume integrates analyses from the translated texts themselves as well as their paratexts to offer unique insights into the different layers of mediation in translation and the new frame s created for those texts This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies comparative studies reception studies and cultural studies The Routledge Handbook of Translation History Christopher Rundle, 2021-09-30 The Routledge Handbook of Translation History presents the first comprehensive state of the art overview of this multi faceted disciplinary area and serves both as an introduction to carrying out research into translation and interpreting history and as a key point of reference for some of its main theoretical and methodological issues interdisciplinary approaches and research themes The Handbook brings together 30 eminent international scholars from a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds offering examples of the most innovative research while representing a wide range of approaches themes and cultural contexts The Handbook is divided into four sections the first looks at some key methodological and theoretical approaches the second examines some of the key research areas that have developed an interdisciplinary dialogue with translation history the third looks at translation history from the perspective of specific cultural and religious perspectives and the fourth offers a selection of case studies on some of the key topics to have emerged in translation and interpreting history over the past 20 years This Handbook is an indispensable resource for students and researchers of translation and interpreting history translation theory and related areas

Innovation and Expansion in Translation Process Research Isabel Lacruz, Riitta Jääskeläinen, 2018 Cognitive research in translation and interpreting has reached a critical threshold of maturity that is triggering rapid expansion along exciting new paths that potentially lead to deeper connections with other disciplines Innovation and Expansion in Translation Process Research reflects this broadening scope and reach emphasizing ongoing methodological innovations diversification of research topics and questions and rich interactions with adjacent fields of research The contributions to the volume can be grouped within four loosely defined themes advances in traditional topics in translation process research including problems in translation translation competence or expertise and specialization of translators advances in research into the emotional or affective aspects of translating and translator training innovations in machine translation and post editing expansion of cognitively oriented translation studies to include editing processes and reception studies This timely volume highlights the burgeoning growth diversification and connectivity of translation process research

Translating and Interpreting in Australia and New Zealand Judy Wakabayashi, Minako O'Hagan, 2021-11-29 This volume explores Australian and New Zealand experiences of translation and interpreting T I with a special focus on the formative impact of geocultural contexts Through the critical lenses of practitioners scholars and related professionals working in and on these two countries the contributors seek a better understanding of T I practices and discourses in this richly multilingual and multicultural region Building on recent work in translation and interpreting studies that extends attention to sites outside of Europe and the Americas this volume considers the geocultural and geopolitical factors that have helped shape T I in these Pacific neighbours especially how the practices and conceptualization of T I have been closely tied with immigration Contributors examine the significant role T I plays in everyday communication across varied sectors including education health business and legal contexts as well as in crisis situations cultural and creative settings and initiatives to revitalize Indigenous languages The book also looks to the broader implications beyond the Australian and New Zealand translationscape making it of relevance to T I scholars elsewhere as well as those with an interest in Indigenous studies and minority languages

and the Anglo-American Book Market Vivan Steemers, 2021-03-01 In recent years the material circumstances governing the production of African literature have been analyzed from a variety of angles This study goes one step further by charting the trajectories of a corpus of francophone African sub Saharan narratives subsequently translated into English It examines the role of various institutional agents and agencies publishers preface writers critics translators and literary award committees involved in the value making process that accrues visibility to these texts that eventually reach the Anglo American book market The author evinces that over time different types of publishers dominated both within the original publishing space as in the foreign literary field contingent on their specific mission be it commercial ideological or educational as well as on socioeconomic and political circumstances The study addresses the influence of the editorial paratextual framing pandering to specific Western readerships the potential interventionist function of the translator and the consecrating mechanisms of literary and translation awards affecting both gender and minority representation Drawing on the work by key sociologists and translation theorists the author uses an innovative interdisciplinary methodology to analyze the corpus narratives
