Pervasive Animation Afi Film Readers Published By Routledge 2013:

Animation and Memory Maarten van Gageldonk, László Munteán, Ali Shobeiri, 2020-08-20 This book examines the role of memory in animation as well as the ways in which the medium of animation can function as a technology of remembering and forgetting. By doing so it establishes a platform for the cross fertilization between the burgeoning fields of animation studies and memory studies. By analyzing a wide range of different animation types from stop motion to computer animation and from cell animated cartoons to painted animation this book explores the ways in which animation can function as a representational medium. The five parts of the book discuss the interrelation of animation and memory through the lens of materiality corporeality animation techniques the city and animated documentaries. These discussions raise a number of questions how do animation films bring forth personal and collective pasts What is the role of found footage objects and sound in the material and affective dimensions of animation How does animation serve political ends The essays in this volume offer answers to these questions through a wide variety of case studies and contexts. The book will appeal to both a broad academic and a more general readership with an interest in animation studies memory studies cultural studies comparative visual arts and media studies. Moving images have become an increasingly common feature in a wide range of museums which are frequently populated with screens and audio visual projections. But when did films start to be displayed in museum galleries And what are the issues at stake when showing moving images in exhibition spaces With an innovative and strongly interdisciplinary theoretical framework this book offers an extensive investigation of the use of audio visuals in exhibition design. Highlighting the continuities and fractures between different periods contexts and practices Elisa Mandelli shows the deep influence of audio visuals on the configuration of the exhibition space as well as on the relationship between museums and their visitors

The Colour Fantastic Giovanna Fossati, Victoria Jackson, Bregt Lameris, Elif Rongen-Kaynakci, Sarah Street, 2025-10-01
Sparked by a groundbreaking Amsterdam workshop titled Disorderly Order Colours in Silent Film scholarly and archival interest in colour as a crucial aspect of film form technology and aesthetics has enjoyed a resurgence in the past twenty years. In the spirit of the workshop this anthology brings together international experts to explore a diverse range of themes that they hope will inspire the next twenty years of research on colour in silent film. Taking an interdisciplinary approach the book explores archival restoration colour film technology colour theory and experimental film alongside beautifully saturated images of silent cinema Pervasive Animation Suzanne Buchan, 2013-08-22 This new addition to the AFI Film Readers series brings together original scholarship on animation in contemporary moving image culture from classic experimental and independent shorts to digital animation and installation. The collection that is also a philosophy of animation foregrounds new critical perspectives on animation connects them to historical and contemporary philosophical and theoretical contexts and production practice and expands the existing canon. Throughout contributors offer an interdisciplinary roadmap of new directions in film and animation studies discussing animation in relationship to aesthetics, ideology, philosophy, historiography, visualization, genealogies, spectatorship, representation technologies and material culture. Jan Svankmajer Keith Leslie Johnson, 2017-11-28. Jan Svankmajer enjoys a curious sort of anti-reputation: he is famous for being obscure. Unapologetically surreal, Svankmajer draws on the traditions and techniques of stop motion animation, collage, montage, puppetry and clay to craft bizarre filmscapes. If these creative choices are off-putting to some, they have nonetheless won the Czech filmmaker recognition as a visionary animator. Keith Leslie Johnson explores Svankmajer's work as a cinema that spawns new and weird life forms, hybrids of machine, animal and non-organic materials like stone and dust. Johnson's ambitious approach unlocks access to the director's world, a place governed by a single uncanny order of being where all things are at once animated and inert. For Svankmajer, everything is at stake in every aspect of life: whether that life takes the form of an object, creature or human. Sexuality, social bonds, religious longings all get recapitulated on the stage of inanimate things. In Johnson's view, Svankmajer stands as the proponent of a biopolitical, ethical and ecological outlook that implores us to reprogram our relationship with the vital matter all around us, including ourselves and our bodies.

Animals, Animality, and Literature

Bruce Boehrer, Molly Hand, Brian Massumi, 2018-09-20. Animals, Animality, and Literature offers readers a one-volume survey of the field of literary animal studies in both its theoretical and applied dimensions. Focusing on English literary history with scrupulous attention to the interplay between English and foreign influences, this collection gathers together the work of nineteen internationally noted specialists in this growing discipline. Offering discussion of English literary works from Beowulf to Virginia Woolf and beyond, this book explores the ways human-animal difference has been historically activated within the literary context in devotional works, in philosophical and zoological treatises, in plays and poems and novels, and more recently within emerging narrative genres such as cinema and animation. With an introductory overview of the historical development of animal studies and afterword looking to the field's future possibilities, Animals, Animality, and Literature provides a wide-ranging survey of where this discipline currently stands.

Understanding Animation

Paul Wells, 2007. Understanding Animation has been updated in response to developments in academic debate and the recent flourishing of the genre in cinema, on TV and in videogames. For any student or fan of animation, this is the ideal introductory guide.

The Animation Studies Reader Nichola Dobson, Annabelle Honess Roe, Amy Ratelle, Caroline Ruddell, 2018-10-18. The Animation Studies Reader brings together both key writings within animation studies and new material in emerging areas of the field. The collection provides readers with seminal texts that ground animation studies within the contexts of theory and aesthetics, form and genre, and issues of representation. The first section collates key readings on animation theory, on how we might conceptualise animation, and on some of the fundamental qualities of animation. New material is also introduced in this section, specifically addressing questions raised by the nature, style and materiality of animation. The second section outlines some of the main forms that animation takes which includes discussions of genre. Although this section cannot be exhaustive the material chosen is particularly useful as it provides samples of analysis that can illuminate some of the issues the first section of the book raises. The third section focuses on issues of representation and how the medium of animation might have an impact on how bodies gender sexuality race and ethnicity are represented. These representations can only be read through an understanding of the questions that the first two sections of the book raise. We can only decode these representations if we take into account form and genre and theoretical conceptualisations such as visual pleasure spectacle the uncanny realism etc. Fantasy/Animation Christopher Holliday, Alexander

Sergeant, 2018-04-27. This book examines the relationship that exists between fantasy cinema and the medium of animation. Animation has played a key role in defining our collective expectations and experiences of fantasy cinema just as fantasy storytelling has often served as inspiration for our most popular animated film and television. Bringing together contributions from world renowned film and media scholars Fantasy Animation considers the various historical theoretical and cultural ramifications of the animated fantasy film. This collection provides a range of chapters on subjects including Disney Pixar and Studio Ghibli filmmakers such as Ralph Bakshi and James Cameron and on film and television franchises such as Dreamworks How To Train Your Dragon 2010 and HBO's Game of Thrones 2011.
