The Relationship Between NWEA Scores of Resident and Non-resident Students Steve Prissel,2016 The purpose of this study was to examine whether a relationship exists between the Northwest Evaluation Association NWEA scores of school of choice students and resident students Background factors were also considered in the study with focus on grade gender race and special education and socioeconomic status of the students The study included 5 975 students from 14 school districts in one Michigan intermediate school district ISD The NWEA computer adaptive test assessed achievement progress in math and reading in grades 3 8 This study used pre and post assessments once in the fall and once in the spring to assess the level of achievement growth Students in this study completed the math and reading portions of the NWEA during the 2014 15 school year A quantitative correlational design was used in this study to show the relationship if any between NWEA math and reading scores of school of choice SOC and resident students What was the relationship between students residency status and math and reading achievement as measured by NWEA and What was the relationship between students residency status and math and reading achievement as measured by NWEA after controlling for background factors These guiding questions and this research are important because of growing nationwide concerns by parents policy makers and school leaders about the educational value of school choice and the competition for per pupil funding based the school district s ability to attract and retain out of district students Maintaining high achievement scores is critical This study concluded that the grade level of the student was impactful to achievement scores but the SOC status was not

NWEA RIT Scale with the Pennsylvania System of School Assessment (PSSA) John Cronin, Branin Bowe, 2004 Each year Pennsylvania students participate in testing as part of the Pennsylvania assessment program. Students in grades 5, 8, and 11 take tests in reading and math, while those in grades 6, 9, and 11 are assessed in writing. These tests serve as an important measure of student achievement for the state's accountability system. Results from these assessments are used to make state level decisions concerning education to meet Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) reporting requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) and to inform schools and school districts of their performance. The Pennsylvania Department of Education has developed scales that are used to assign students to one of four performance levels on the state's assessments. These are from the lowest cut score to the highest: basic, basic proficient, and advanced. For purposes of NCLB, the proficient level is considered the level that represents satisfactory performance. Many students who attend school in Pennsylvania also take tests developed in cooperation with the Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA). These tests report student performance on a single cross grade scale which NWEA calls the RIT scale. This study investigated the relationship between the scales used for the PSSA assessments and the RIT scales used to report performance on Northwest Evaluation Association tests. The study determined RIT score equivalents for the PSSA performance levels in reading and mathematics. Test records for more than 2,400 students were included in this study. Three methods generated an estimate of RIT cut scores that could be used to project PSSA performance levels. Second order regression methods generally produced the most accurate cut score estimates. Accuracy of predicting PSSA passing performance was above 84% for all grades when using the best methodology. Type I errors ranged from about 4% to 8% when the best methodology was employed. Contains 14 tables and 3 figures.

Aligning the NWEA RIT Scale with the Nevada Criterion Referenced Assessment and the Iowa Test of Basic Skills John Cronin, Branin Bowe, 2004 Each year Nevada students in grades 3, 4, 5, and 7 participate in testing as part of the Nevada assessment program. Students in grades 3 and 5 take the Nevada Criterion Referenced Assessment (Nevada CRT) while students in grades 4 and 7 take the Iowa Test of Basic Skills (ITBS). These tests serve as an important measure of student achievement for the state's accountability system. Results from these assessments are used to make state level decisions concerning education to meet Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) reporting requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB) and to inform schools and school districts of their performance. The Nevada Department of Education has developed scales that are used to assign students to one of four performance levels on the Nevada CRT. These are from the lowest cut score to the highest: developing approaches, meets, and exceeds. For purposes of NCLB, the meets level is considered the level that represents satisfactory performance. Students taking the Iowa Test of Basic Skills are also assigned to one of four levels: These levels simply reflect the four quartiles reported in the ITBS norms. Many students who attend school in Nevada also take tests developed in cooperation with the Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA). These tests report student performance on a single cross grade scale which NWEA calls the RIT scale. This study investigated the relationship between the scales used for the Nevada state assessments and the RIT scales used to report performance on NWEA tests. The study determined RIT score equivalents for Nevada CRT and ITBS performance levels in reading and mathematics. Nevada CRT test records for more than 2 000 students were included in this study. Three methods generated an estimate of RIT cut scores that could be used to project Nevada CRT performance levels. Rasch SOS methods generally produced the most accurate cut score estimates. Accuracy of predicting Nevada CRT passing performance was above 84% for all grades when using the best methodology. Type I errors ranged from about 8% to 14% when the best methodology was employed. Contains 16 tables and figures.
