companion slides

The image is a composite of several educational slides and a painter's palette. On the left, a painter's palette with various paint colors (brown, blue, red, green) and a paintbrush is shown. The right side features a series of slides:

- PHONICS & DECODING: A slide with a speech bubble asking, "Do you remember the common digraph spellings?" It shows two examples: "sh" with a shell and "th" with a bird.
- BUILDING BACKGROUND: A slide with a speech bubble asking, "Have you ever been to an art gallery, art fair, or art show? What was it like? What did you like most about it?"
- Art for All: A slide showing a photograph of a person in an art gallery.
- George Washington Carver: A slide with a portrait of George Washington Carver and a text box. The text reads:

George Washington Carver was an African American scientist who invented many products. He was born in the year 1864 in Missouri. When George Washington Carver was young, many different African people came and go to school. He became interested in education. When he started learning, he learned many good lessons when he grew plants on their farms. He had these farms grow plants he could use for medicine. These plants were good for the soil. When he started doing experiments with plants, he learned how to use plants to make products such as soap. During his life, George Washington Carver invented hundreds of uses for plants. George Washington Carver died in 1943.
