

GENERAL PROGRAM: TRADITIONAL AND ACCELERATED

LEHMAN COLLEGE The City University of New York DEPARTMENT OF NURSING

The accelerated nursing program is designed to allow a degree in nursing to be achieved in a period of a year and a half whereas the traditional program requires two years of study. The responsibility for implementation of the New York State Education Department is provided by the Committee on College Nursing Education. www.nysed.gov/collegedepartments/nursing and information is published on the New York State Education Department website for students to implement pertinent laws.

This program is a 15-month course of the total 18-month required for graduation. Accelerated study requires that students participate in additional to required courses.

The accelerated program is designed with emphasis on two academic areas. The first is the traditional nursing curriculum as required by the Nursing Program. Students complete their general education and prerequisite courses. Students planning to enter nursing must adhere that begin by the time they have earned the science and math prerequisites required for nursing program in the Department of Nursing. Prerequisites must meet the general degree requirement. Nursing is offered as a full-time program during the day. The Department will accept other non-accelerated programs for students planning a graduate program of study. The prerequisites are used by admission personnel to determine if the student meets the criteria. Application to the accelerated program is made by submitting the degree plan. The program is designed to be completed in 15 months.

Students planning to complete the accelerated program must adhere to the Department's policy on the New York State Education Department's requirements in the Department of Nursing Education (January 17 to March 31) which are the general rules. Application is made by the student.

The general education program of the nursing program is designed to be completed in 15 months of study. The student must adhere to the general rules of the Department.

Students of the program will have gained the knowledge and experience for further education or work in the field of nursing. Students will have completed the degree in nursing and will have the ability to provide nursing care to the community and to the individual and family in various settings.
