Huhtamo, 2023-08-22 Tracing the cultural material and discursive history of an early manifestation of media culture in the making Beginning in the late eighteenth century huge circular panoramas presented their audiences with resplendent representations that ranged from historic battles to exotic locations Such panoramas were immersive but static There were other panoramas that moved hundreds and probably thousands of them Their history has been largely forgotten In Illusions in Motion Erkki Huhtamo excavates this neglected early manifestation of media culture in the making The moving panorama was a long painting that unscrolled behind a window by means of a mechanical cranking system accompanied by a lecture music and sometimes sound and light effects Showmen exhibited such panoramas in venues that ranged from opera houses to church halls creating a market for mediated realities in both city and country In the first history of this phenomenon Huhtamo analyzes the moving panorama in all its complexity investigating its relationship to other media and its role in the culture of its time In his telling the panorama becomes a window for observing media in operation Huhtamo explores such topics as cultural forms that anticipated the moving panorama theatrical panoramas the diorama the panoramania of the 1850s and the career of Albert Smith the most successful showman of that era competition with magic lantern shows the final flowering of the panorama in the late nineteenth century and the panorama's afterlife as a topos traced through its evocation in literature journalism science philosophy and propaganda What is Media Archaeology?
