Sounding the Cape Denis Martin, 2013 For several centuries Cape Town has accommodated a great variety of musical genres which have usually been associated with specific population groups living in and around the city Musical styles and genres produced in Cape Town have therefore been assigned an identity which is first and foremost social This volume tries to question the relationship established between musical styles and genres and social in this case pseudo racial identities In Sounding the Cape Denis Martin recomposes and examines through the theoretical prism of creolisation the history of music in Cape Town deploying analytical tools borrowed from the most recent studies of identity configurations He demonstrates that musical creation in the Mother City and in South Africa has always been nurtured by contacts exchanges and innovations whatever the efforts made by racist powers to separate and divide people according to their origin Musicians interviewed at the dawn of the 21st century confirm that mixture and blending characterise all Cape Town's musics They also emphasise the importance of a rhythmic pattern particular to Cape Town the ghoema beat whose origins are obviously mixed The study of music demonstrates that the history of Cape Town and of South Africa as a whole undeniably fostered creole societies Yet twenty years after the collapse of apartheid these societies are still divided along lines that combine economic factors and racial categorisations Martin concludes that were music given a greater importance in educational and cultural policies it could contribute to fighting these divisions and promote the notion of a nation that in spite of the violence of racism and apartheid has managed to invent a unique common culture

Women Filmmakers Jacqueline Levitin, Judith Plessis, Valerie Raoul, 2003 What difference does it make when a woman wields the camera Has the gender issue been eclipsed by questions of race and class Does feminist theory still make a contribution to practice This wide ranging volume of new work brings together women filmmakers and critics who speak about what has changed over the past twenty years Including such filmmakers as Margarethe von Trotta Deepa Mehta and Pratibha Parmar and such critics as E Ann Kaplan this comprehensive volume addresses political artistic and economic questions vital to understanding the relationship of women to the art and business of filmmaking

The "La Traviata" Affair Hilde Roos, 2018-10-23 Race politics and opera production during apartheid South Africa intersect in this historiographic work on the Eoan Group a coloured cultural organization that performed opera in the Cape The La Traviata Affair charts Eoan's opera activities from the group's inception in 1933 until the cessation of their productions by 1980 It explores larger questions of complicity compromise and compliance of assimilation appropriation and race and of European art music in situations of non European dispossession and disenfranchisement Performing under the auspices of apartheid the group's unquestioned acceptance of and commitment to the art of opera could not redeem it from the entanglements that came with the political compromises it made Uncovering a rich trove of primary source materials Hilde Roos presents here for the first time the story of one of the premier cultural
