New Slavery New Slavery:

A Comparative Literary History of Modern Slavery Madeleine Dobie, Mads Anders Baggesgaard, Karen-Margrethe Simonsen, 2024-12-15 The first volume of A Comparative Literary History of Modern Slavery explores literary representations of enslavement with a focus on the emotions. The contributors consider how the diverse emotions generated by slavery have been represented over a historical period stretching from the 16th century to the present and across regions, languages, media, and genres. The seventeen chapters explore different framings of emotional life in terms of sentiments and affects and consider how emotions intersect with literary registers and movements such as melodrama and realism. They also examine how writers, including some formerly enslaved people, sought to activate the feelings of readers, notably in the context of abolitionism. In addition to obvious psychological responses to slavery such as fear, sorrow, and anger, they explore minor key affects such as shame, disgust, and nostalgia, and address the complexity of depicting love and intimacy in situations of domination. Two forthcoming volumes explore the literary history of slavery in relation to memory and to practices of authorship.

The New Slavery Hoffman Nickerson, 1947 Notes on sources, pages 243-261

The Cambridge Companion to Global Literature and Slavery Laura Murphy, 2022-12-22 The Cambridge Companion to Global Literature and Slavery reveals the way recent scholarship in the field of slavery studies has taken a more expansive turn in terms of both the geographical and the temporal. These new studies perform area studies, driven analyses of the representation of slavery from national or regional literary traditions that are not always considered by scholars of slavery, and explore the diverse range of unfreedoms depicted therein. Literary scholars of China, Central Asia, the Middle East, and Africa provide original scholarly arguments about some of the most trenchant themes that arise in the literatures of slavery: authentication and legitimation, ethnic formation and globalization, displacement, exile, and alienation, representation and metaphorization, and resistance and liberation. This Cambridge Companion to Global Literature and Slavery is designed to highlight the shifting terrain in literary studies of slavery and collectively challenge the reductive notion of what constitutes slavery and its representation.

Politics of Slavery Laura Brace, 2018-01-15 What makes a slave a slave? What does it mean to think about slavery as a political question? This book examines slavery and freedom as founding narratives of the liberal subject and of modernity. Laura Brace asks what happens when we try to bring slaves back into history and into the history of political thought. In particular, looking at scholarship on both old and new slavery, the book assesses the work of Aristotle, Locke, Hegel, Kant, Wollstonecraft, and Mill, and explores the contemporary concerns of human trafficking and the prison industrial complex. To consider the limitations of new slavery discourse.

Bearing Witness Andrea Nicholson, 2022-09-29 Since the 1990s, modern slavery has been recognized as a global problem, with campaigners around the world providing assessments of its nature and extent, its drivers, and possible solutions for ending it. However, largely absent from the global antislavery movement's discourse and policy prescriptions are the voices of survivors of slavery themselves. Survivors' authentic voices are underemployed vital tools in the fight against modern slavery in all its forms Through close readings of over 200 contemporary slave narratives Andrea Nicholson repositions the history of the genre and exposes the conditions and consequences of slavery and the challenges survivors face in liberation Far from the trope of capture enslavement escape she argues that narratives are rich and vitally important sources that enable the antislavery community to be gain important insights and build more effective interventions
