Business Start-ups in Dubai and Germany. A Comparative Analysis Yasemen Aslan, 2024-04-08 Seminar paper from the year 2024 in the subject Business economics Company formation Business Plans grade 1 0 University of Applied Sciences M nchen Medienmanagement course Language Proficiency and Cultural Sensitivity language English abstract This work focuses on business start ups and the contextual factors in Dubai and Germany two significant economic centers What are the reasons behind this trend What opportunities and challenges exist for entrepreneurs The study aims to provide a comprehensive understanding of these two distinct but equally significant business locations Unemployment the desire for independence self determination to advance an innovation or the ambition to build up your own business these are the main motivations for prospective entrepreneurs and they are indeed becoming increasingly important nowadays In various parts of the world a growing number of people are seeking a reorientation and questioning their career prospects In 2023 the worldwide count of entrepreneurs reached 582 million and the numbers continue to rise While entrepreneurship is rapidly expanding globally numerous business owners tend to show a stronger preference for specific countries Robust infrastructures stand out as a primary factor influencing entrepreneurs to favor one region over another Especially one country has emerged as an attractive location for starting a business in recent years Dubai a city that has transformed from a small marketplace to a global business area over the previous decades Dubai is developing faster than almost any other country and the population is growing exponentially Of the 3 5 million inhabitants 85% are foreigners In past times there also has been a noticeable increase in the number of entrepreneurs and influencers choosing to expatriate to the Persian Gulf emirate Principally tax benefits strong economic growth security quality of life and social cohesion attract people from all over the world to move to the Middle East and establish their companies there So not only is Dubai one of the top travel destinations globally but it also attracts international entrepreneurs as a growing economic hub Frontiers of Entrepreneurship Research ,2007

Entrepreneurial Strategy Dean A. Shepherd, Holger Patzelt, 2021-07-19 This open access book focuses on explaining differences amongst organizations regarding various attributes forms and outcomes By focusing on the how of new venture creation and management to produce well established organizations the authors aim to increase our understanding of the antecedents of most management research assumptions New ventures are the source of most newly created jobs generated in an economy new industries and markets innovative products and services and new solutions to economic social and environmental problems However most management research assumes a well established organization as the starting point of their theorizing Building on the notion of guided attention it details how entrepreneurs can allocate their transient attention to identify potential opportunities from environmental change and how entrepreneurs allocate their sustained attention to form beliefs about radical and incremental opportunities requiring entrepreneurial action The authors explain how entrepreneurs build such communities and engage community members over time to co construct potential opportunities for new venture progress Using the lean startup framework they connect the dots between the theorizing on identifying and co constructing potential opportunities and the startup of new ventures This leads to a new overarching framework based on are 1 co creating a startup 2 organizing a startup and 3 performing a startup to bring together the many disparate threads of research on new ventures The authors then theorize on the importance of knowledge in organizational scaling Based on cutting edge research from the leading entrepreneurship journals this book expands knowledge on the cognitive aspect of the new venture creation process Entrepreneurship for Rural Start-ups Gloria

Jiménez-Marín,Alejandro López Rodríguez,Miguel Torres García,José Guadix Martín,2021-03-09 Entrepreneurs who start out with no network no money no market and scarce resources find a big contrast between what they read in books and the success stories from the Valley and their reality specially first timers Most entrepreneurial books focus on the Business Canvas Model simplifying the process of building a start up Many entrepreneurs who have no previous business experience embrace quick and lean methods without the foundations needed to build solid value proposals This book stands out because it deals with entrepreneurship in environments far removed from large cities with fewer infrastructures connections and resources but which also need companies that provide services to citizens and society This book focuses on the basics treating each part of the business canvas as a discipline itself that must be mastered The book illustrates key lessons learned and offers guidance on essential topics for new venture success in mainstream markets It expands critical lessons learned and points of guidance across several key topics for new venture creation Noteworthy is the role of context financial understanding building business development skills and start up communications Entrepreneurship for Rural Start ups will be of interest to students academics and researchers in the field of entrepreneurship and will be of use to individuals looking to start a local business to take advantage of the rural environment and the possibilities it offers Theoretical Framework for Structured Incubators to Address Macroeconomic Problems Wynand Goosen,2024-03-11 Diploma Thesis from the year 2023 in the subject Economics Macro economics general grade Post Doc Accepted course Post Doc language English abstract This study aims to investigate the possibility of creating structured entrepreneurial incubators to address macroeconomic problems Various countries face Macro Economic problems such as energy pollution water shortage and unemployment Formal SMEs contribute up to 40% of GDP in emerging markets and provide 70% of employment The possibility of incubating SMEs to address Macro Economic Problems should be investigated to stimulate the Economic Emancipation of the youth The principle of a structured incubator is born from the problem that the formal economy can no longer supply the required growth in jobs that our society needs Instead economies must create marginal capacity and new industries to facilitate the economic emancipation of its people Business incubation is one of the most viable tools for increasing the number of small businesses South Africa needs a new framework to develop the structured incubators role in creating small businesses Such structured incubators would need to capacitate themselves to take entrepreneurship to scale New SMEs can be developed in construction catering water saving e waste hairdressing plastic recycling retail trade solar and many other industries if individuals can be capacitated in cohorts to become SMEs The need for structured incubators is supported by a literature review a survey of youth needing economic emancipation an industry analysis and the researcher s experience in training young entrepreneurs The grounded theory approach is used to identify concepts and categories that inform the themes in support of structured incubators Given the above we must equip people with skills to become less dependent on the state Macroeconomic problems should be viewed as the source from where SME opportunities emerge A framework for capacitating structured incubators that can develop large numbers of young people in cohorts must be developed Such incubators must be capacitated as current incubators are not developing entrepreneurs at scale Individuals in need of economic emancipation could be trained to operate as SMEs and provide more employment The study suggests that structured incubators could solve macroeconomic problems like poverty unemployment and the need for economic growth A new structured incubator framework should aim to identify and develop young people into successful small enterprises
