Publisher information Soils in the New Zealand Landscape Les Molloy, 1988 This authoritative book, commissioned by the New Zealand Society of Soil Science, graphically illustrates soils widely differing in origins and characteristics. It outlines the environmental and human influences which have moulded New Zealand's soils and explores the relationship between the soil and its landscape. Taken from dust jacket Teaching Landscape History Jan Woudstra, David Jacques, Robert Holden, 2023-11-29 Landscape history is changing in content and style to address the issues of today. Experienced teachers and authors on the history of gardens and landscapes come together in this new volume to share ideas on the future of teaching history in departments of landscape architecture, archaeology, geography and allied subjects. Design history remains important but this volume brings to the fore the increasing importance of environmental history, economic history, landscape history, cultural landscapes, environmental justice and decolonisation, ideas of sustainability and climate change amelioration which may all be useful in serving the needs of a widening range of students in an increasingly complex world. The main themes include what history should we narrate in the education of landscape architects, how can we recognise counter narratives and our own bias, how should we engage the students in the history of their chosen profession, how can designers and researchers be persuaded of the relevance of history teaching to theory and practice and what resources do we need to develop teaching of landscape histories. This book will be of interest to anyone teaching courses on landscape architecture, urban design, horticulture, garden design, architectural history, cultural geography and more The Nature of Things James Brown, 2005 THE NATURE OF THINGS is a celebration of the relationship between poetry and the New Zealand landscape. It matches a wide range of poems that in some way evoke or describe our landscape with images from the pre-eminent New Zealand photographer Craig Potton. The poems have been selected and the introduction written by James Brown, one of New Zealand's leading contemporary poets. THE NATURE OF THINGS includes work from many of the central figures of New Zealand poetry, both historical and contemporary, to create a hugely appealing, accessible and original anthology of New Zealand poetry Landscape Paintings of New Zealand Christopher Johnstone, 2013-10 With 135 paintings from early colonial art to the work of contemporary painters, this book is a must-have for every lover of New Zealand and its art. When Landscape Paintings of New Zealand: A Journey from North to South was published in 2006, it was hailed by a reviewer thus: 'This is New Zealand art history made accessible yet still full of scholarship and insight.' Gallery director Dr Fiona Ciaran wrote that the book is a cracker that has something for everyone, concluding that it was simply a magnificent landmark in publishing itself. And now this acclaimed book is back with 32 new paintings joining the 103 of the original edition. It is

studded with arresting works by well known artists such as Colin McCahon Peter Siddell Dick Frizzell Doris Lusk Rita Angus John Gully and many many more famous names from New Zealand art history In addition the book offers an opportunity for readers to acquaint themselves with lesser known these days at least painters such as Archibald Nicholl Max Walker Cedric Savage and Douglas MacDiarmid With its biographical notes on each artist extensive bibliography fascinating insights into social history and art history and with a beautiful new design and very high production values this book is a must have for every book shelf and coffee table Indeed in 2013 the Times Literary Supplement included it in its books of the year list New Zealand Journal of Ecology ,2009 Official Record of the Centennial International Exhibition
