Nice Emil Brunner Makers Modern Theological:

Christian Theology for a Secular Society Mark G. McKim, 2008-01-01 It's hard to be the only one. That single sentence from a teenage congregant sums up the conviction that motivated Christian Theology for a Secular Society. In these dying days of Christendom the reality that most Western Christians face is living out their faith as a minority in the midst of a culture that is at every level personal institutional and societal secular in nature. While most living in Western societies still affirm belief in God and often other vaguely recognizable Christian beliefs these affirmations frequently have little to do with how daily life is lived. The idea that the God best known to us in Jesus Christ is actually in charge of life is foreign. For most Christianity simply does not form an overarching system of meaning that shapes life. Instead life is lived largely without reference to God. And to live any other way is often hard. In this volume Mark McKim sets out to do theology in this context. How does one explain the core historic Christian doctrines in a way that makes sense in a secular culture and in a way that will gain a hearing? What does it mean to be the church in this new situation? Throughout McKim asks the question so what as he relates Christian teachings to a secular society and to what is actually happening in the local church. McKim's goal is to enable the singing of the Lord's song in the new and strange land of a secular society.

Emil Brunner James Edward Humphrey, 1976    Emil Brunner J. Edward Humphrey, 2016-01-01 Emil Brunner 1889-1966 is one of the Three Bs Barth Brunner and Bultmann who shaped Christian theological studies in the twentieth century. Brunner and Karl Barth are the undisputed champions of the theological revival known as neo orthodoxy and the two of them did more than any others to prepare for the resurgence of historical biblical Christianity in the Western world today. Brunner was part of the wrecking crew that dismantled the house of liberal theology with its humanistic view of Jesus Christ, its optimistic view of man's goodness and its progressive idea of history as inevitably leading to the kingdom of God. The core of Brunner's theology was the coming of the infinite God to finite man in the person of Jesus Christ. In this book Dr J. Edward Humphrey sets forth and examines Brunner's doctrines of Christ and God, his doctrine of sin and the need for personal faith, his doctrines of the church as a fellowship and the place of revelation and the Bible as the norm for faith and practice. Brunner's great books on Christian doctrine have manifested an unusual staying power and Dr Humphrey helps us get at Brunner with insight, appreciation and a critical evaluation. About the Makers of the Modern Theological Mind series Who are the thinkers that have shaped Christian theology in our time? This series tries to answer that question by providing a reliable guide to the ideas of the men who have significantly charted the theological seas of our century. Each major theologian is examined carefully and critically: his life, his theological method, his most germinal ideas, his weaknesses as a thinker, his place in the theological spectrum and his chief contribution to the climate of theology today. Welcome to the series.

Systematic Theology, a Modern Protestant Approach Kenneth Cauthen, 1986 This is a work that originated as a textbook to introduce students to the whole range of Christian thought written from the viewpoint of the non-conservative academic tradition in modern American Protestantism    Makers of Christian Theology in America Mark G. Toulouse, James O. Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1977    Vanderbilt Divinity School Dale A. Johnson, 2001 The Vanderbilt Divinity School is one of only four university based interdenominational institutions in the United States and the only one in the South. As such its history provides a distinct vantage point for viewing what has occurred in theological education since the latter part of the nineteenth century. In this book the contributors explore the school's history in terms of four main themes: Engagement with southern culture present from the beginnings of the university but taking on special significance in the mid twentieth century around the issue of race; The transition from an institution of the church Methodist to an independent and interdenominational school with a liberal Protestant orientation; The development of the modern research university evident in the establishment of a graduate program in religion in addition to its program for the profession of ministry; From the 1950s a growing concern with diversity and inclusivity in keeping with national and international issues and developments both religious and cultural which has broadened the school's sense of ecumenism and deepened its commitments to social justice. Conflict has played an important part in shaping the history of the Vanderbilt Divinity School from struggles over initial visions to questions of financial support and institutional control from local debates over academic freedom to national issues of social justice. Especially noteworthy are the transformations the school has undergone since 1960 the James Lawson affair where the divinity school faculty resigned over the expulsion of an African American graduate student who was organizing local lunch counter sit-ins; the impact of social change on the school since the late 1960s and the contributions of women and African Americans including their appointment to the faculty    Friedrich Schleiermacher C. W. Christian, 1979 Blending elements of biography, systematic analysis and a concern for contemporary relevance Dr C W Christian has produced a long needed study of the man who is perhaps the most influential thinker since Luther and Calvin. It is no mere matter of convenience to call Friedrich Daniel Ernst Schleiermacher 1768-1834 the Father of Modern Theology says Dr Christian. He is one of the very small group of theologians who have given birth not to a new theology or to a new school but to a new era. One of the first thinkers to deal profoundly and effectively with the challenges that science and technology brought to traditional religion Schleiermacher made it his lifelong commitment to seek a new foundation and a new basis for religious authority one that could not be shaken by each successive discovery or invention This book presents in readily available form the basic substance of Schleiermacher's theology focusing on his major theological writings the Speeches on Religion and The Christian Faith clarifying and evaluating his thought and suggesting the elements of permanent inheritance received from him by 20th century Christianity No theologian not even Barth the author declares has directed theology toward the concerns of the church with more determination As much a forerunner of current neo Protestant theology as he was of liberalism Schleiermacher expressed through a profound Christocentrism the personal piety which originated in his childhood within the Moravian movement At the same time he took seriously the world about him not as an alien culture but as a field for valid religious reflection This study offers a balanced portrait of both the personal and cultural dimensions of Schleiermacher's legacy As a product of careful scholarship and original insights it will commend itself to theologians and historians As a stimulating narrative that traces the rise of so many of the issues of concern to the church today it offers invaluable content for ministers and lay readers as well Publisher
